SUMMER

Summer Starts with Girls' State . . .

Seniors Becky Laidig and Vicki Mumby find time to relax during their exciting week at Girl's State.

Pam Blue joins Janey Fricke in a fighting campaign song during a party rally.

. . . Ends with 4-H Fair

In her free fair time, Pat Verheyen reads the 4-H fair edition of the Penn Points.

Steve Kelley savagely snarls as the "wildman" at the Bittersweet booth at the St. Joseph County 4-H Fair.

As only football players know, practice begins early in August.

Sarajane Smith looks delighted with the outcome of her work in the darkroom.

Parking a car is no easy task, but this drivers education student gives it an honest try.

To catch up on a little lost sleep, senior Janet Koehnke takes a snooze during a break in summer school econ class.

Senior Mark Ruckert has the full attention of his fellow students while dramatizing his point of view in a summer school English class.

Being a secretary can keep anyone busy and Mrs. Witwer is no exception.

Summer was busy, busy for PHS students. Academically, summer started with Girls' State and Boys' State. Seven seniors were honored with a trip to Indiana University to study our state government. Summer school, jobs, camp counseling, 4-H, band rehearsals, chamber choir rehearsals, cheerleader practice, and various sports kept many students bustling.

Of course, the summer wasn't all work and no play. Swimming in the old St. Joe, skiing, softball, baseball, dances, and vacations dominated the "lighter" side of life.

"Watch out for the wildman!" These cries were familiar to fair-goers passing the Bittersweet booth. For the first time in our school's history, Penn's publications department operated a booth at the 4-H fair. The Bittersweet House of Mystery was created by seniors Dan Gardner and Steve Kelley. The "wildman" who was billed as coming from deepest, darkest Africa strangely resembled Steve Kelley. On the other side of the wildman's cage was a vast gallery of puns. Excited viewers peered through the peep hole labeled Elizabeth Taylor only to find a lizard tayloring a suit. Red Buttons was also at our booth but in the person of three red buttons. The above mentioned were just a few of the "celebrities" that appeared at the Bittersweet House of Mystery. The purpose of the House of Mystery was to raise money and sell subscriptions to the Bittersweet.

Enjoying a morning of reading on the lawn is the honor history class.

A summer scene of construction changes the appearance of the Penn campus.

Penn High School's addition gets a long hot summer start. It was completed for fall occupancy.

Mr. George Green, Penn German teacher and summer lifeguard, warms up a Honda to join the "cycle fad".

Summer school students take a break from their summer school class routines. Mr. Roy Bolen, economics teacher, leads the calorie counters.

Faculty Modifies Appearance

Mr. Jones survives the summer heat with a temporary crewcut.

Mr. Thomas Slater is about to board the bus returning students to Penn following a field trip to the South Bend court house.

Mr. Donald Quimby, Penn social studies teacher, points out the advantages of team teaching while lecturing at Notre Dame.

for High Temperatures

Discussing next years social studies program are Mr. Quimby, Mr. Schmucker and Mr. Cierzniak.

In his free time Mr. Cierzniak prepares his "surprises" for the honor history class.

Serenading parents and guests at the ice cream social is the freshman band.

AFS Students Display Talents

Jeanne Courtney, Purdue student, 4-H'er and Penn graduate, enjoys her summer 4-H assignment at Penn.

Nelson Worden gallantly tests the water for senior Sue Holycross.

Foreign exchange students from Germany, Viet Nam, and Spain plus two PHS students prove that music in an international language.

Bill Johnson beams with pride at the award he received for his outstanding 4-H project.

"Practice makes perfect" and N. Gunter, D. Gardner, L. May, C. Underwood, and S. Putek try their best to be precision perfect.

Lots of summer fun takes place in Penn High School's well-equipped pool.

Not everyone can "sidewalk surf" this well, but Jim Newcomer admits it takes practice.

Ed Leininger proudly shows 4-H leader Mr. Kintzel how well his crop is doing this summer.

Students Vacation Coast to Coast

During her visit to the New York World's Fair Penn freshman Karen Kelley demonstrated her strength by lifting the unisphere. Nice work Karen.

Barbara Weade, Tom Brennan, Bruce Reichart, Sue Hoffman, Brenda Blade, and Darlene Parmley anxiously await their trip to California for the Junior Classical League Latin Convention. Mrs. Geneva Burke, Latin teacher, accompanied the language students.

The arrival of the Bittersweet is always an exciting event and these students anxiously take their first glance.

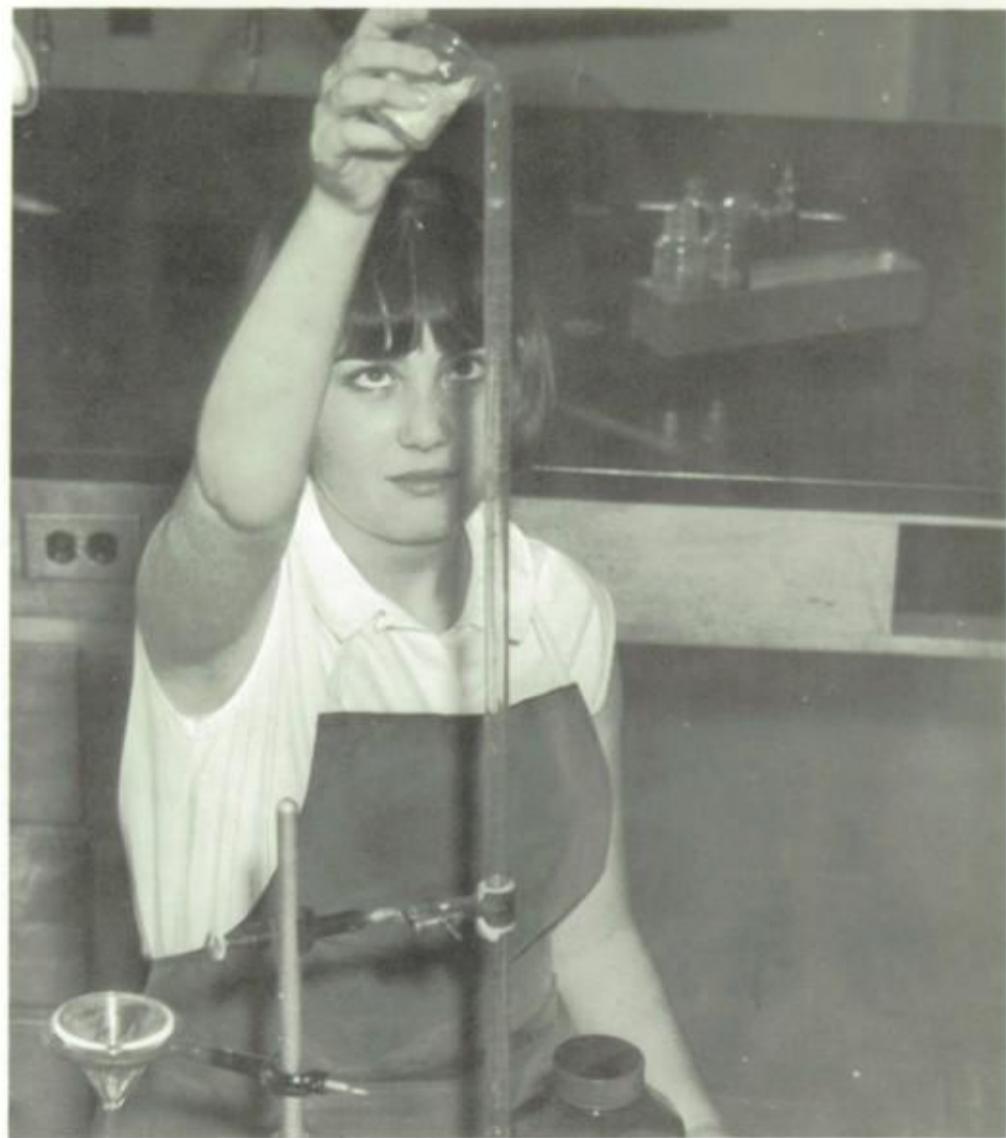

Gus Soler, Penn's foreign exchange student, tries his hand at the American game of ping pong. Allen Beehler furnishes the music.

FALL

Science Proves Mystifying

Chemistry student, Mariellen Meisel, is a model of concentration as she conducts her experiment.

Physics teacher, Mr. Frank Matthews, demonstrates for physics students Don Porter, Tom Rentschler, Jim Newcomer, and Mike Hurtekant the use of the rangefinder. The Penn campus offers many opportunities for outdoor experiments.

With the space age booming ahead, many students find that science and math can lead to a profitable and fascinating vocation. Many new and challenging problems confront us begging to be solved. We are faced with the task of learning how to use many new and complicated mechanisms. The paper and pencil method of working a math problem has given way to the computer. The sciences have also changed a great deal. The chemist in working with more and new elements, the biologist has to concern himself with sustaining the lives of many more people, and the physicist must now concern himself with outer space.

Math and science majors find Penn's science department superb and undoubtedly receive a strong background for college. The sciences taught at Penn include biology, chemistry, advanced chemistry, and physics. Every year the science department sponsors the annual Science Fair. This gives students the opportunity to explore and experiment by using their own ingenuity. The benefits received from this experimentation prove invaluable in helping a student to think and reason on his own.

and Sometimes Even Practical

Edna Williams performs her daily chore of cleaning the aquarium, while biology teacher Mr. Owen Shoup attends to a water experiment.

Mr. Clyde Motts, chemistry teacher, makes sure his students understand a basic principle in physics. Seeing is believing to most students.

Tom McLaren attempts to prove to fellow students that his GIANT calculations are correct. Slide rule seminars were arranged for math students in after-school sessions.

Science Has Something To Offer Everyone

Penn students let off steam during Penn pep sessions and gave their team the backing they needed. Each pep session was highlighted by a skit given by each individual class. The skits were written by the students themselves and proved to be very original and interesting. Their main purpose, however, was to increase school spirit and give more support to the team. The students should be commended for their efforts in backing our athletic teams.

Traditionally seniors have been noted for their leadership. Each year seniors buy their senior cords and decorate them to their own tastes according to what they have done in the past four years. Cords are to be worn to school on black and white days as a sign of "school spirit."

Senior class president, Richard Worthington, tries to quiet his audience as he reads the senior class creed during a pep session skit.

Linda Dillion demonstrates in speech class the proper grooming of a dog. Speech class students are given much credit for originality.

Various Scenes Typify Normal School Day

English Students Enlarge Their Vocabularies

Mrs. Thelma Barber, Penn's senior English teacher, aids students in their vocabulary studies. An effective vocabulary is invaluable to college bound students.

Mr. Robert Ward, varsity football head coach and social studies prof, points out an important geographical location as three of his interested students look on.

The Social Studies Department was characterized for the second straight year by the team teaching instructional approach. This approach has proved more efficient than the regular teaching approach. The history department devised an "honors class" for juniors who were considered capable of doing excellent academic work. There was also the regular team teaching performed in the other history classes. The senior students were required to take government and economics. This course included a "problem solving approach" during the second semester. A social studies course is offered to every grade level at Penn. The teachers in the department include: Miss Slaby, Mr. Bolen, Mr. Cierzniak, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Hurst, Mr. Quimby, Mr. Slater, Mr. Ward and Mr. Schmucker.

Mr. Harvey Hurst explains an economic principle to Margaret Sigerfoos, John Van Belleghem and Connie Underwood in a senior economics "team teaching" session.

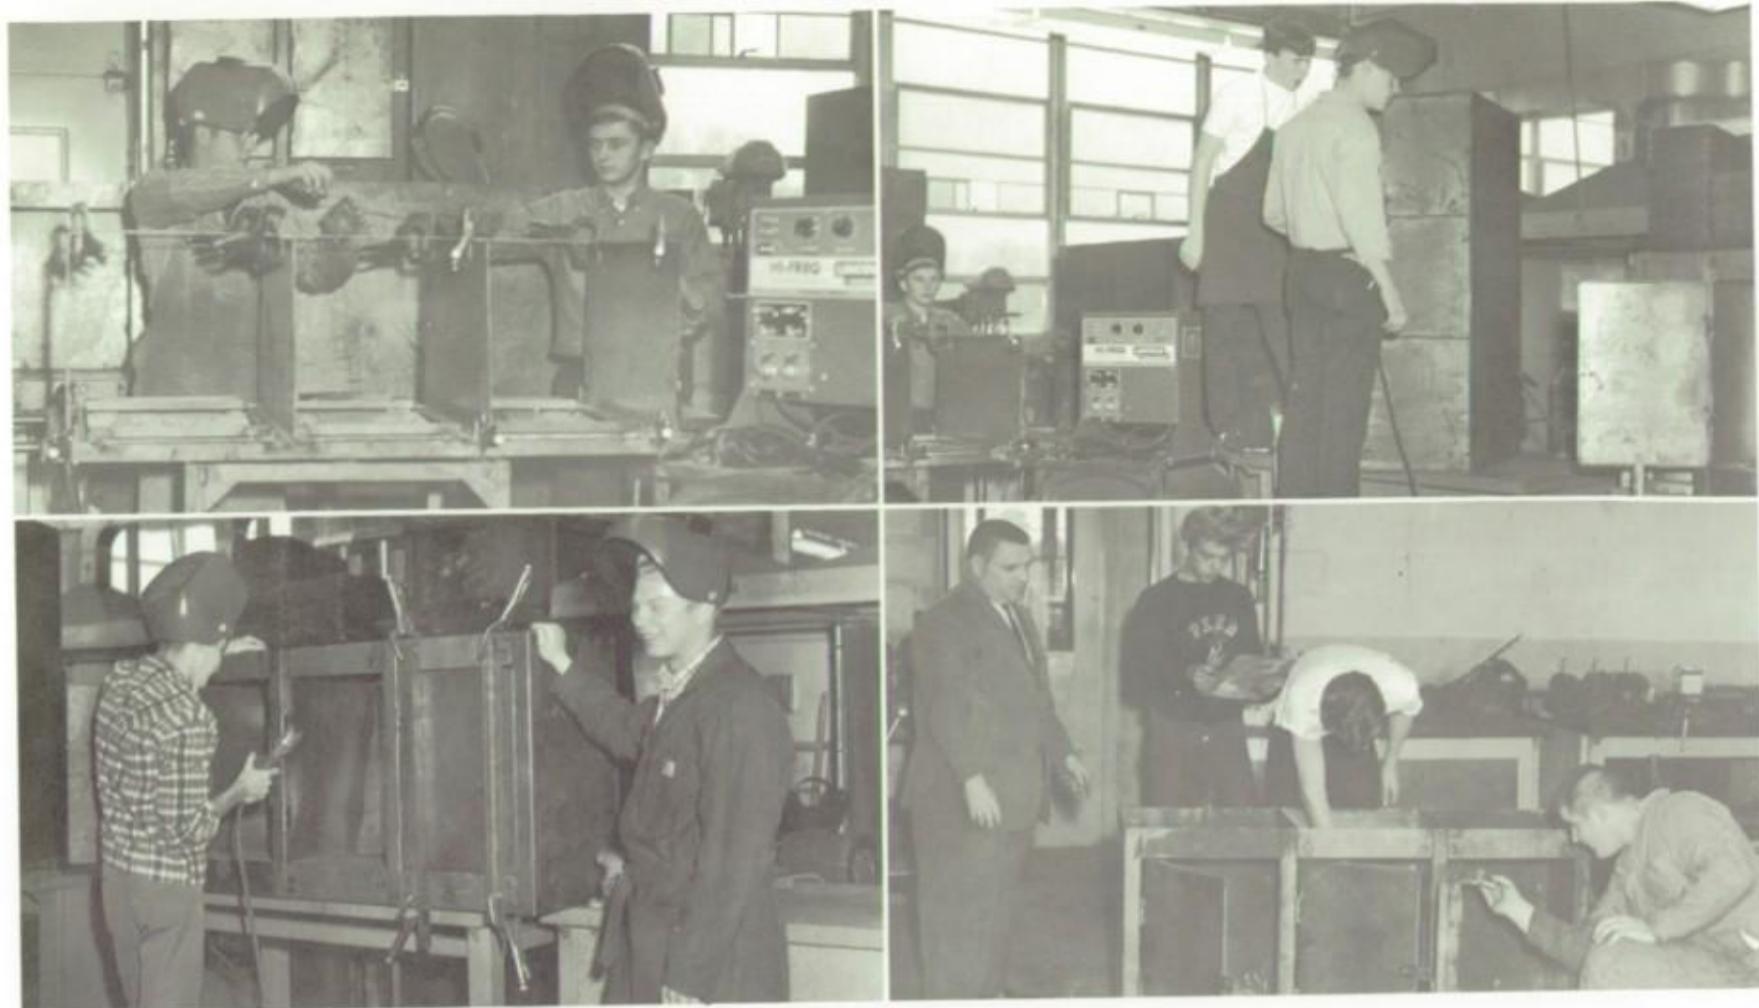

Underclass pictures only come once a year. Students pay particular attention to their appearances to be sure they are at their best. Mr. Edward Andros "shoots" freshman Walling as his classmates wait in line.

These early morning band practices can sure get a guy down—but Dennis Harper gives it all he's got.

Miss Charlotte Sinkiewicz, P.H.S. typing teacher seems quite pleased with Daniel Minix's typing assignment.

The welding shop sets up a genuine production line to make cabinets for the new industrial arts wing. The cabinets will be used in both the welding shop and the new auto shop.

Tom McLaren kneads carefully to make sure his pastry has that "chef's touch".

Mrs. Leah Silver drills her French class on proper word pronunciation.

Senior Class Rings—A Moment To Remember

Teach

Junior, Terri Carter, anxiously waits to have her ring size taken. The month of December was a month to remember. Bob Albertson, Josten representative, satisfies another customer.

Junior Pat Opelt and seniors Carol Christy and Bonnie Nash join Penn student teacher Mark Smith in ordering their '66 annuals. The week-long BITTERSWEET campaign featured daily spot recordings furnished by staff members and played for students prior to the morning announcements.

Jackie Gerstbauer, club editor of the '66 BITTERSWEET, meets with club representatives regularly to establish better communication between the clubs and Penn Publications.

A column of energetic Pennettes are impatiently awaiting their debut at half-time. The Pennettes performed their precision routines with the Marching Kingsmen.

Clubs Organize . . .

Y-Teeners Marsha Shultz, Sue Wordinger, Doris Shaw, and Cynthia Neitzel use their skills to make centerpieces for the Christmas Ball.

It takes team work to meet a deadline as Sandy Pozwilka, Vicki Simms, Linda Friesner discover as they add "those finishing touches" to the Christmas Ball decorations.

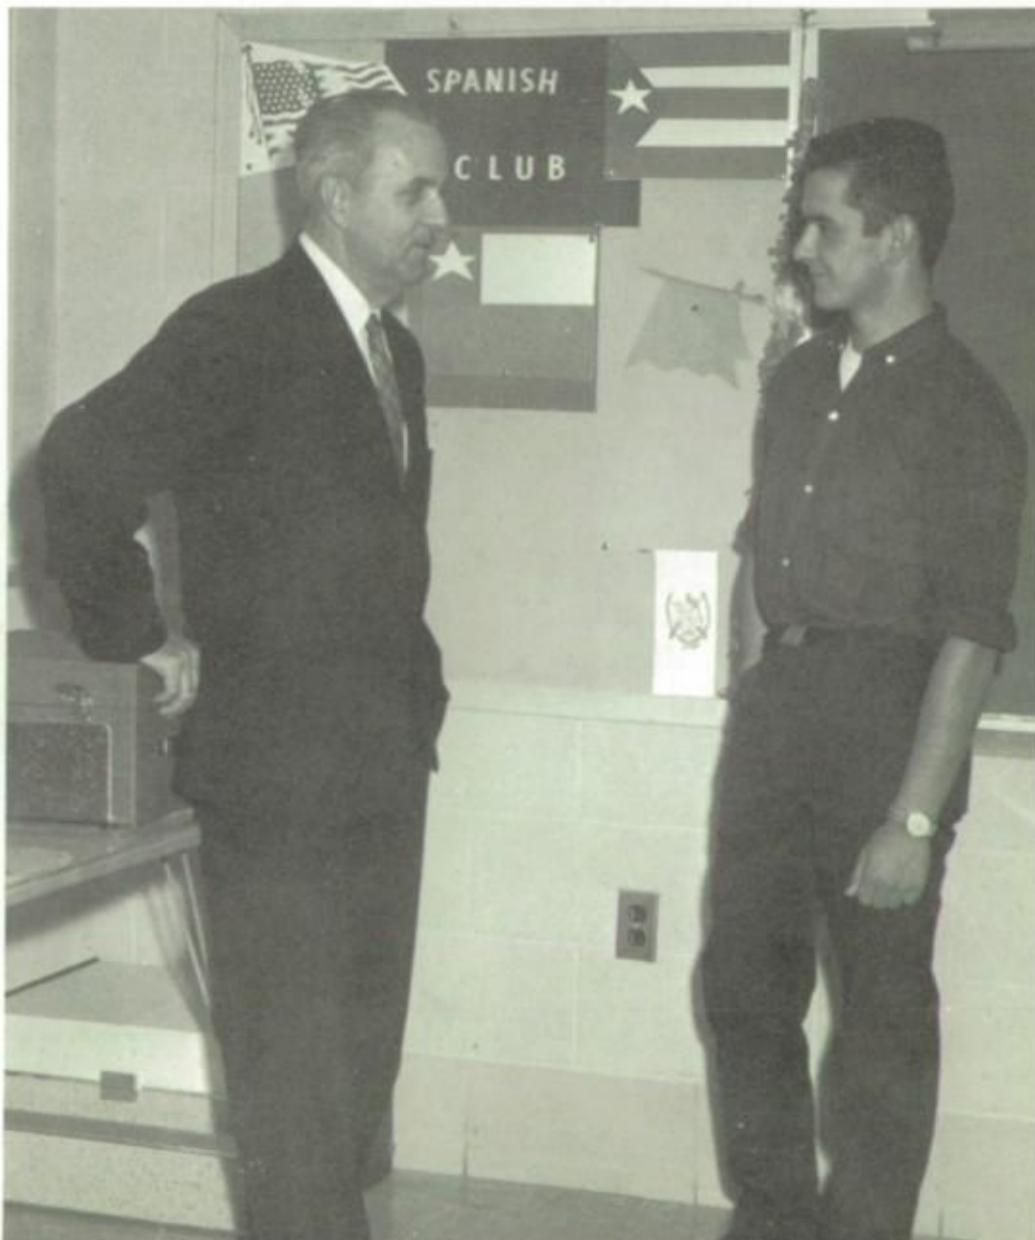

TB League representatives from all over the community work together to plan the most successful campaign in Junior TB League history.

Senior Terry Meredith, fifth from the right, was Penn's '66 representative.

Mr. Bolen lettermen sponsor places his signature on Lettermen Club membership cards for Don Holmes, Ed Leninger, and Larry Jennings.

Two Latin-American "amigos" (Mr. Gamba and Gus Soler) converse in their native tongue about the future.

P.H.S. Traditions Continue . . .

The Quill and Scroll Club set one of the newest and most exciting traditions at Penn with their sale of school pins. Here, in another attempt to make a sale, Jackie Gerstbauer, president, convinces Phil Goddard that it's "better to switch than fight".

With the help of sponsors Mr. Jurkiewicz and Mr. Brady, Tina Woods, Mary Barnett, and Bob Horvath plan for their Junior Red Cross Christmas party.

Suetta Putek and Marjorie Ludwig sell after-lunch snacks for the Librarians Club.

Most of the clubs at Penn have money-making projects but no club works as hard or contributes as much to the seasonal spirit as the Art Club in their Christmas Card Sale. Combining their talents and originality here are Katie Zieger, Sue Pavel, Marcia Smith, and Judy Day.

Clubbers Support Projects . . .

Will it or won't it? Miss Sinkiewicz appears dubious as Mrs. Massa looks on. The Future Business Leaders Club sold balloons during the football games this year.

Darlene Parmley gratefully accepts the money for the Publications department as Brad Auten and Carol Chapman check their coats.

Working together to boost school spirit, Chris Romeu and Guy Fanning promote the sale of decals for the German Club.

An intriguing moment spells defeat or victory for Richard Worthington and Nelson Worden, two members of the Chess Club. Richard went on to win the school championship for the second year in a row.

Attending Friday afternoon Youth For Christ club meetings is a regular event for Dave Cropsey, Henry Eager, Susan Zeltwanger, Pat Laxton, and Marjorie Ludwig.

Librarians' Club members, Joyce Bellman, Sharon Hartman, Tom Blicher, and Steve Fermi show our foreign exchange student, Gus Soler (center) that "sippin' cider" is the only way to celebrate a Halloween party.

Two heads are better than one (or is it three?) when it comes to designing a German Club insignia. Dave Rumpf, president, and Danny Gardner, designer, present Mr. Green with this prized possession.

Girls Seek Athletic Equality

Gloria Powell and Janet Goddard prove that growing up is "for the birds" during Big and Little Sister Day celebrations.

Gymnastics are a breeze for "Go Go Kelley" as she shows the upper-classmen how easy it really is.

Everybody gets into the act! Following the example of the guys in the background, GAA girls show off their talents. It looks as if an "Armstrong" pass is the only way out of this situation.

GAA Provides an Answer

Go, champ, go! Louise Hums, Cathy Weikel, and Ginny Schmidt urge Rosemary Mosey on for a touchdown.

"Gaa Gaa" girls add new enthusiasm on Penn's basketball court as tension mounts in the closing minutes of an exciting game. This year's " fleeting (flirting?) five" traveled far and wide in competition with area schools.

Bonnie Nash, Gloria Powell, Linda Friesner, and Cheryl Hinton (GAA officers) work together to co-ordinate one of the largest clubs in the school's history.

Kingsmen Two-Milers Finish Strong with 9—6 Record

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM—KNEELING: Mike Moran, John Dudeck, Bob Wisser, Dick Fulmer, Jim Schmidt. STANDING: Roger Weldy, Phil Miller, Coach Jim O'Keefe, Ron Armour, Terry Franklin, Doug Sellon, Terry Batson, Tim Clark.

In the cross country opener with Washington Clay, senior Dick Fulmer crosses finish line in 10:57. Other seniors harriers were Phil Miller, Ron Armour, and Terry Batson. Batson and junior John Dudeck were the co-captains for the Kingsman cross country squad.

Senior Tom Rentschler sharpens up his back hand preparing for the opening match with the Maroons at the Merrifield Park courts.

Wally Steibitz one of a quartet of lettermen on Coach Brady's racket squad, edges Phil Dickey of the Adams' Eagles 6—4, 6—4. The Penn netmen bowed to the Eagles 4—3.

The 1965-1966 edition of the PHS tennis squad, with four seniors leading the way, compiled a 3—6 dual match record while competing with tough area opponents. Team captain Gary McCammon, teaming up with fellow seniors Wally Steibitz, Tom Rentschler, and Ray Golata, were the mainstays of the team during the season. Acting as the team's "fifth" man was junior Craig Fanning, who led the squad in number of matches won. Ron Whitney and Dennis Myers, two other underclassmen on the team this past season, should perform capably again this fall. Fanning was chosen to captain this year's team.

Playing under new head football coach Robert Ward for the first time, the PHS '65 football team started slowly and then blossomed into form, compiling a 4—5—1 record. With hard-charging senior fullback Steve Hohl leading the way, the Kingsmen scored impressive wins over Plymouth (21—0), New Carlisle (33—7), St. Joseph, Michigan (13—7), and grabbed a thrilling 15—13 triumph over Clay on a safety by senior tackle Earl Slater.

Losses included a narrow season opening 13—7 setback at Huntington, a 25—0 shutout by powerful Riley, a 20—7 loss to St. Joseph after trailing just 7—0 at halftime, a 20—0 blanking by a strong Goshen team and a 21—2 setback to Richomnd.

The season was concluded with a hard fought 0—0 tie with city rival Mishawaka on Tupper Field in Mishawaka. The game was the first between the Kingsmen and Maroons.

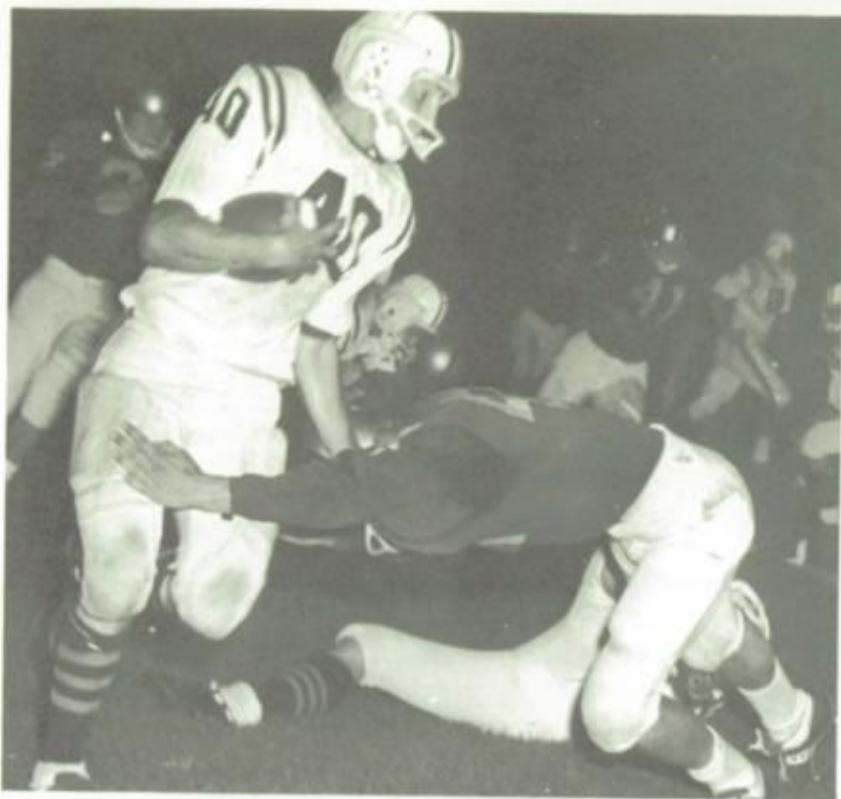

Hohl ended the season as the leading ground gainer and also had the best rushing average. Quarterback Dave Risner, despite missing several games with an injury, provided excellent signalcalling, and All-County players Glen Stevenson at end and Larry Jennings at center were mainstays of the team. Junior Tom Comfort, a starting guard, was named to captain the '66 team.

Senior PHS rushing leader Steve Hohl powers his way for a large gain in the game with South Bend St. Joseph. Quarterback Dave Risner (14) looks on as the Indians' Mike Farabaugh applies the stopper.

Coach Robert Ward gives last minute strategy from the sidelines.

Steve Hohl removes another obstacle in an attempt to score.

Drum Major Virgil Wesco leads the pep band in an attempt to warm a shivering audience.

Principal Robert Jones joins WJVA announcer Dale Strough in observation from the press box.

Morale and enthusiasm are high during the half of the St. Joe game.

Glen Stevenson completes a pass which will be followed by a thirty yard touch down against St. Joe.

Holmes fails to stop the "Pilgrim's Progress" in the game with Plymouth.

Juniors Learn Office Procedure

A beaming Mrs. Anderson watches the rapid progress of her blooming typists.

Learning to run the many machines in office practice is a "cinch" with a teacher like Miss Sinkiewicz, as Mary Roher will gladly admit.

Shorthand begins to look less like Arabic scribblings and begins to serve as a useful tool, testify the students of Mrs. Massa.

Senior home ec student Billie Proctor uses the flannel board to illustrate a story in the child development class. Interested children include Bill Green, Brad Wolfe, Liza Brenneman, DeAnn Cook, Lori Hartzog, Roger Meacham, Phil Beehler, Tammy Stump, Joel Schultz, Jinna Schultz, and Terry Teegarden.

Dee Ann Cook is in the center of a play store session of the child development class.

Indiana champion Future Homemaker Barb Omundson discusses her Washington D.C. trip award with sponsor and home ec department chairman Mrs. Lucille Frick.

Miss Gustafson and sophomore Patti Gemmer pose for the Bittersweet photographer following Patti's selection as a committee chairman of the Indiana chapter of F.H.A.

Marlene Hixenbaugh helps Terry Teegarden make a tough decision during play time.

Students Eagerly Create in

Senior Robin Armstrong's expression indicates that she is on her way to creating a masterpiece.

Mr. William Behrens is one of the first visitors to the art mart at the annual science fair.

Patricia Smith, a Penn graduate now a commercial art student, returns to her Alma Mater and lectures with illustrations during a regular art club meeting.

Bill Muessel tries his hand at the potter's wheel. Pottery making is one of the oldest arts known to man.

Senior Larry Oakley works skillfully over at art project. Precision in one's work means a better grade in art class. Art department chairman, Mrs. Genevieve Toth, shares art instruction duties with Mrs. Janet Dover.

The Chamber Choir of Penn High School is in its second year of existence. The purpose of the Chamber Choir is to act as "good will ambassadors" in behalf of Penn High School. They sing for many social functions of the community. These students give up much of their free time after school and in the evenings in order to practice and perform. They have appeared at dinners, club meetings, churches and concerts.

This year the Chamber Choir was awarded a superior rating at the Jimtown NISBOVA contest qualifying it for the state contest held at Butler University, Indianapolis. The choir was successful at state contest also, receiving a superior rating for its presentation of "April is in My Mistress Face."

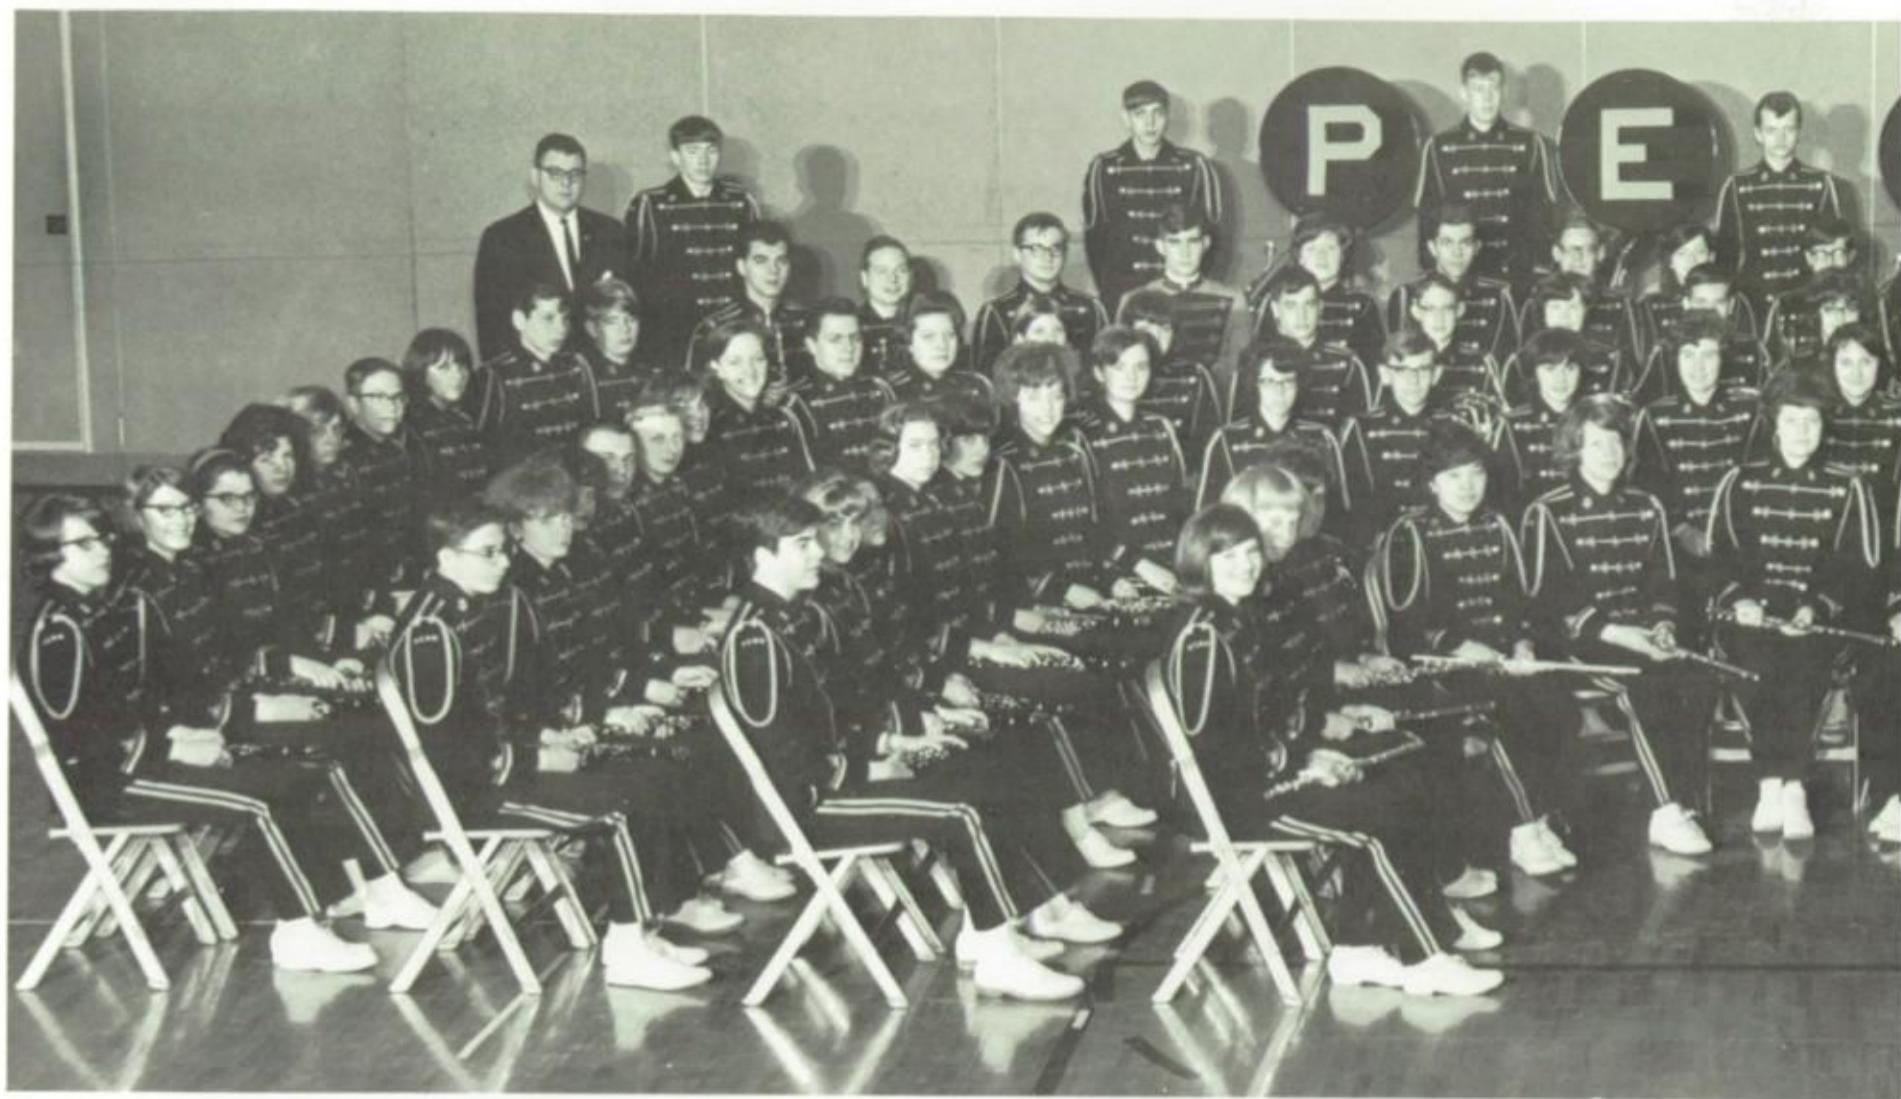

The highlight of the year for the choir students is the Christmas Concert. Students begin preparing for the concert as early as October in order to present the concert in December which this year was attended by a capacity crowd. The choirs presented such beautiful numbers as "Shepherds' Awake", "The Holly and the Ivy", "The Star", "Rocking Carol", and "Sweet Little Jesus Boy".

A new group introduced this year by Mr. Holaway is the Singing Kingsmen. This group consists of freshman boys. The Singing Kingsmen captivated the audience at the Christmas Concert with their lively and joyous Christmas melodies. They have indeed been a successful group and have created new spirit in the music department.

"Marching Kingsmen" Strut Their Stuff in the "500" Festival Parade!

A behind the scenes "candid camera" shot of a typical second hour band rehearsal.

"Strike up the band." From August and Riverview until June and Commencement melodic strains from the "Marching Kingsmen" (Concert Band) were heard. Under the direction of Mr. Donald Kutchback, the members of the band again distinguished themselves.

The band's imaginative schedule included half-time shows at Penn's football games and the ever-present pep band during the cage season. Football fans cheered band performances featuring music from Mary Poppins and James Bond themes. The Pennettes, with umbrella accessories, contributed to the effectiveness of the Mary Poppins' numbers, while strains of Gold Finger and Jamaica Jump-Up were immediately identified by football fans as music from the popular James Bond series.

October will be remembered by band members for their trip to Ball State for "Band Day". November and December were busy months for practice, practice, and more practice. Seniors who played for four years in the band were given sweater awards following the Winter

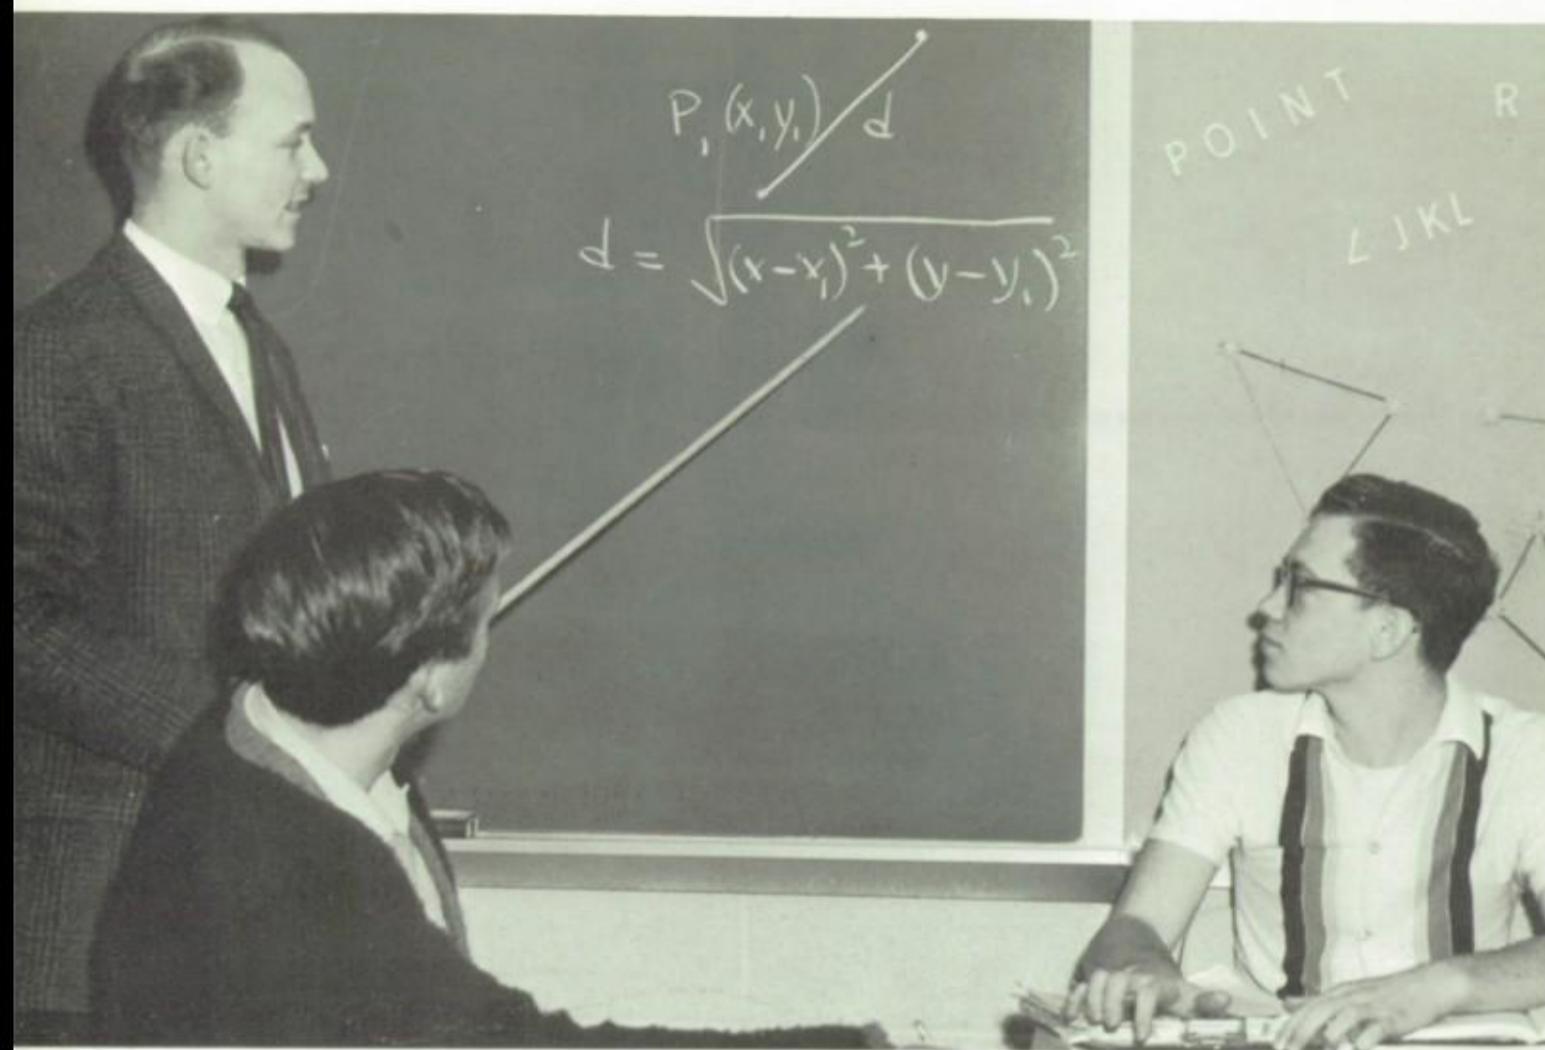

Donald Kutchback, Penn band director, is interviewed by senior band member Sarajane Smith concerning the "500" Festival Parade. Penn participated in the Indianapolis parade for the first time this year.

Concert in January.

April was another busy month. On April 13, the band featured the Great Race March during an all-student convo. On the 16, they participated in the state contest and on the 24 they entertained the public with the annual Spring Concert playing music from The Apartment theme.

Perhaps the highlight of the year was the participation of the "Marching Kingsmen" in the Indianapolis "500" Festival Parade. This was another Penn first. Only 33 bands are included in the "500". Eleven from Marian County, eleven from the rest of the state of Indiana, and eleven from out of state. The "500" Festival Parade this year had additional interest and significance because this year Indiana celebrated its sesquicentennial birthday.

Math Students Find Mental Gymnastics Exhilarating!

Mr. Lowell Shepler, chairman of the math department, explains an important math fundamental to two of his interested students. Understanding principles is necessary for success in math class.

Beverly Wyatt pauses as she waits for Mr. Gunn, a Penn alumnus, to give her the next figure in her math problem.

Assistant principal Michael Green and Mr. Diener, of the math department, discuss some facts concerning Virgil Wesco's prize-winning science project. Virgil's project was appropriately named "Band and Bacteria".

History: The Complete Story!

Mr. Phillips helps one of the government groups understand more about the strategy behind U.S. foreign policy. This is one of the major areas studied by the government-economics classes.

Mr. Schmucker points out a place of interest to his world history students. Mr. Schmucker, the chairman of the social studies department, has traveled extensively and is well versed on his subject.

Edna McConnell and Dennis Ewing pay close attention as Mr. Bob Ward locates an important country in today's news on the globe.

Group discussion is only a small part of the activities of a world history class.

"The Enlightened One" is a title applied especially to the great religious leader of India. Buddha possessed perfect enlightenment and wisdom.

Students in United States history class participate in their small group activity. Each day ten to fifteen minutes is spent in small discussion.

One of the highlights of the Y-Teens' social season was the annual Christmas Ball. Pam Blue was selected to be the reigning queen of this year's "Winter Wonderland" of enchantment. Comprising her court were: Helen Kubitschek, Linda May, Janet Koehnke, and Nancy Gunter.

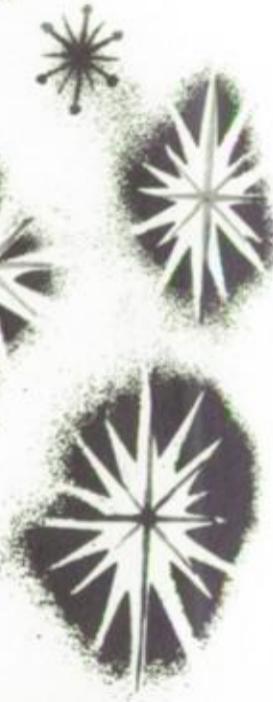

The ecstasy of the moment shows as senior Pam Blue gracefully accepts the tokens significant to her reign. Penn principal Mr. Jones has the happy privilege of token bearer. In the routine of school, this is one of those moments to remember.

Showing how much fun a Home Ec Christmas party can be are Diana Williamson, Theresa Kissinger, Kathy Adkins, Judy Brubaker, and Margaret Nobles.

Is that a REAL mouse? Enjoying (?) the many "wonderful" Christmas presents from her senior psychology class, Miss Trudy Slaby proves that it isn't all a man's world.

Exchanging such things as super-size combs, toy race cars, slinkies, and shower curtain rings added an amusing aire to this National Honor Society Christmas party.

Donkey Basketball—a Novel Treat

Anything goes when the teachers play basketball ... and on DONKEYS yet!! It's the good guys versus the bad guys as Coach Bob Miller, Madison Jr. High, tries to take advantage of the motto "Have Gun (Penn High math teacher Bob Gunn), Will Travel". The Lettermen and G.A.A. were financially happy about the success of this sports benefit game.

Who knows more about cheerleading than ... the BASKETBALL PLAYERS? Getting a chance for revenge while cheering the donkey-riding teachers on to victory are seniors Dick Fulmer, Mike Mattasits, Dave Risner, and Jim Rach.

Service Clubs Discover the Meaning of Christmas!

Stimulating students through class competition proved to be the winning combination for a successful Christmas seal campaign. Above, Terry Meredith accepts the generosity of Dennis Sager, Sarajane Smith, Janet Koehnke, and Chuck Whitaker.

Dedicated to serve others rather than club recognition, the Red Cross Club is perhaps the hardest working club in school. Helping here to spread Christmas joy are Kathy Simper, Gary Wells (Santa Claus), Bonnie Butler, and Mike Pollack.

The 1965-1966 edition of the Penn varsity basketball team, despite posting the losingest record in the school's eight year history at 2-19, nonetheless provided the many ardent Kingsmen fans with some outstanding thrills during the long, uphill schedule. With a starting lineup composed of one senior and four underclassmen, and with an entire varsity squad that boasted only four seniors on the roster, those two victories rank as somewhat of an achievement.

However, it was not the two victories, but probably a loss that ranked as the most outstanding game of the season. Saddled with a 2-18 regular season, the Kingsmen came into the Elkhart sectional as a definite underdog. Facing tough Elkhart, a team we had lost to by 31 points during the regular season, it would have taken an almost superhuman effort to repeat as titlist.

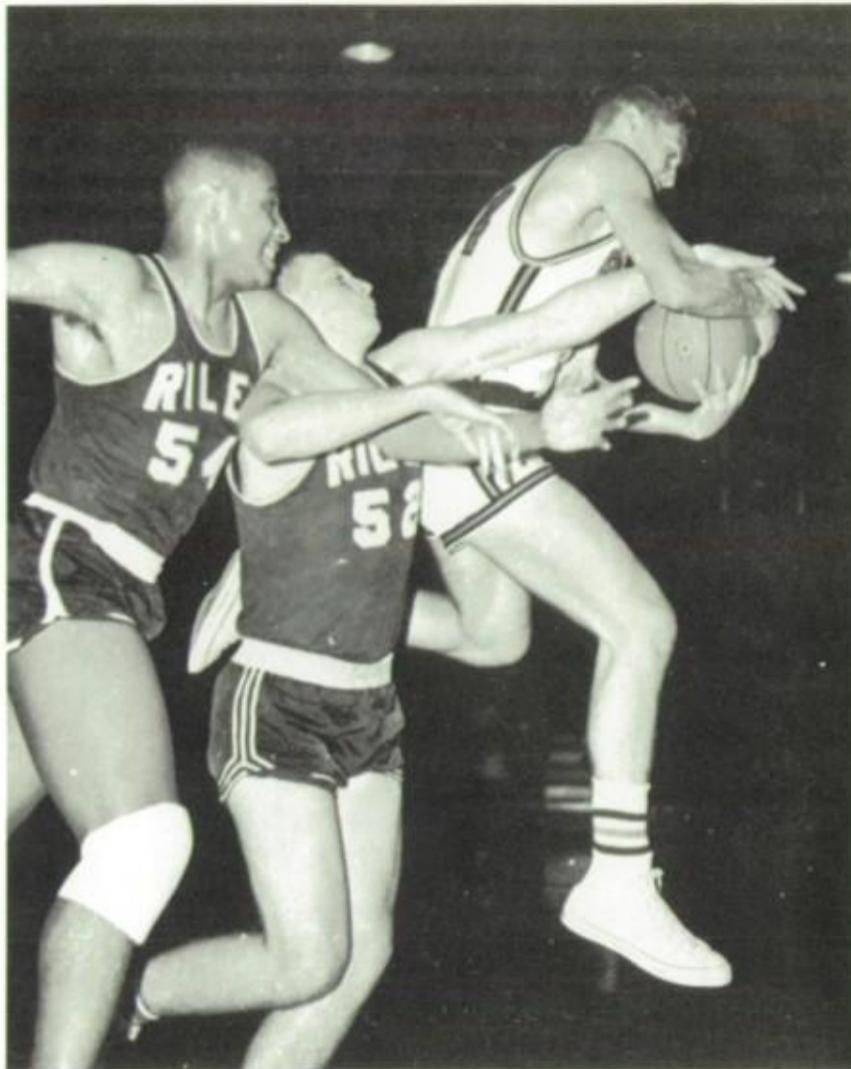

The boys almost came through. Playing the host Blazers to a standstill during the middle two periods after falling down by five points after the first period, it took a last period rally for Elkhart to defeat our determined Kingsmen, 64-51. Despite losing the contest, coach Bob Brady's Kingsmen played one of the better games of the campaign, clipping 18 points off the Elkhart margin of victory in our first meeting.

Our first victory of the season was perhaps the most thrilling of the two wins. After a rather disappointing 84-46 loss to South Bend Washington in our opener, we began our home campaign by tripping Michigan City St. Mary's 78-73. With Paul Minne and senior Dick Fulmer leading the way with 21 points each, we came back from a 36-33 halftime deficit to win.

However, with our record evened at 1-1, the best it was to be all season long, we then hit a slump, losing our next 11 games in a row. Following a narrow loss to LaVille and that setback at Elkhart, we then fell to arch-rival Mishawaka in a double overtime thriller and lost to tough South Bend Riley by just two points.

Other losses in the string were to Adams and St. Joseph in the Mishawaka Holiday tourney, a 33 point setback at Plymouth, and losses to LaPorte, New Carlisle, Nappanee, and Central.

Penn Quintet Wins Just Two in '65-'66

FOLLOW THE LEADER? Riley's Bob Churchwell (54) and Tom Putt seem to be playing follow the leader as they fight Penn forward Paul Minne for a rebound. Minne won the battle.

With our record standing at 1—12, we then won our only other game of the season, rapping Jackson, 79—53 behind the 19 point efforts of senior star Don Holmes and junior center Ron Frantz.

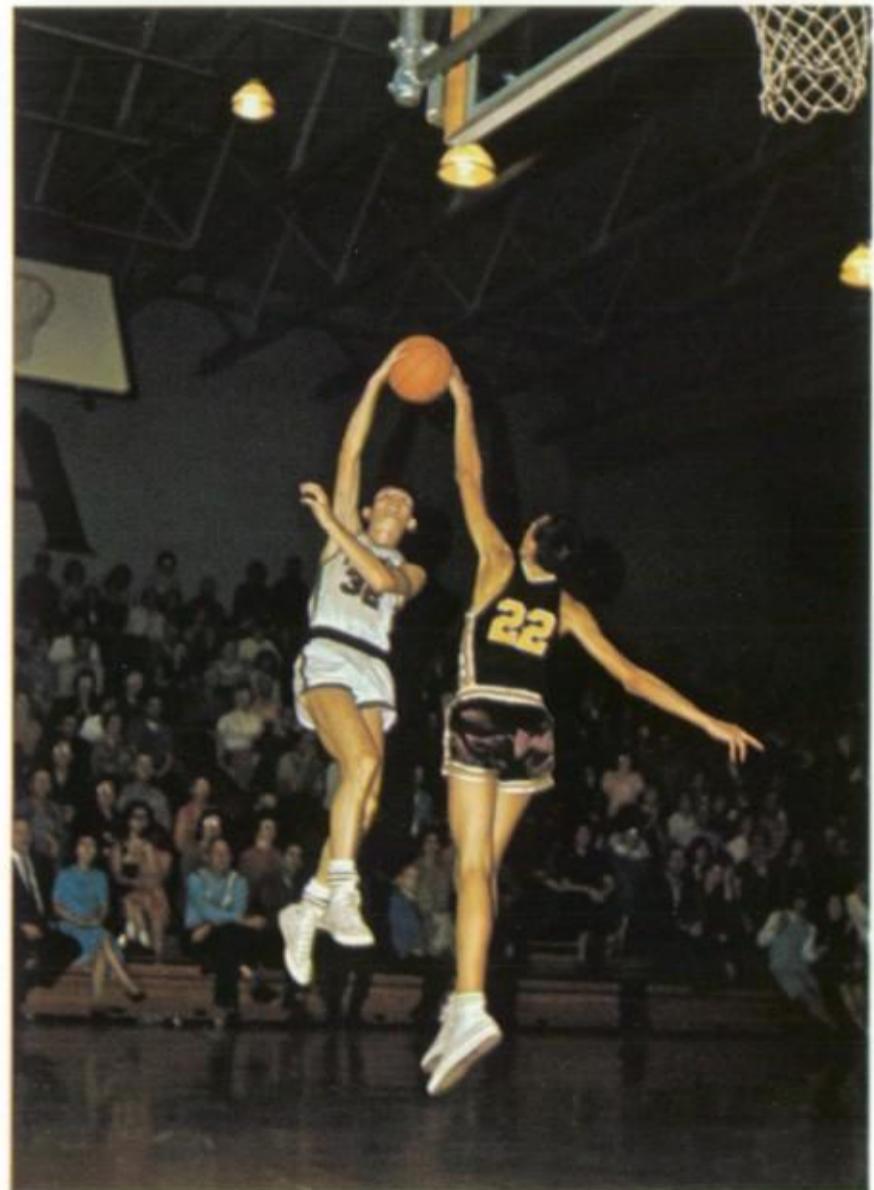

Despite playing their best ball of the season in the last seven outings, the team dropped all seven, several in thrillers. A poor Penn second period helped Concord slip past us, Bremen rallied in the third period to trip us by 13 points, and St. Joseph's needed a last ditch rally to nip our spirited Kingsmen by a trio of points.

We concluded the regular season with a pair of close setbacks, losing to Niles 74—70 despite Holmes' scoring a school record 44 points, and lost a 72—70 thriller to Clay.

Coach Brady will have back eight of his 12 varsity members for this winter, as he loses just Holmes, Fulmer, Ron Armour and Glen Stevenson. Varsity members returning are Frantz, Phil Singleton, Steve Rockenbaugh, Tim Clark, Minne, Gary Wordinger, Gary Shanklin, and Roger Weldy.

AFTERMATH OF A COLLISION: Penn's Phil Singleton (dark uniform) and St. Joseph's Larry Radecki occupy spots on the floor after the two collided in fighting for the ball. Looking on are Terry Klysz of St. Joe (42) Mark Hurtubise (34), Kingsman Dick Fulmer (33) and Terry Smith of the Indians (far right).

Penn senior speedster Dick Fulmer presents a colorful sight as he goes up for a hook shot against Mishawaka. Trying to block the shot for the Maroons is Mike DeNeve. Mishawaka won the game in a thrilling double overtime, 71—67.

Season's Highlight—Holmes' 44 Points Against Niles

SEVEN ARMS, ONE BALL—Seven outstretched arms reach for the ball as Penn and Nappanee do battle in a game in the PHS gym won by the Bulldogs. Penn players Ron Armour (44) and Glen Stevenson (42) join a pair of Nappanee cagers in reaching for the ball. Looking on for the Kingsmen are Steve Rockenbaugh (22) and Dick Fulmer (far right).

FINGERTIP FINESSE—Star Kingsman cager Don Holmes shows how to dribble your way out of trouble as he slips in towards the Niles basket. Holmes pumped in 12 field goals and added 10 free throws in the game to set a new school of 44 points. Stan Yoder set the old mark of 43 against the same team (Niles) last year.

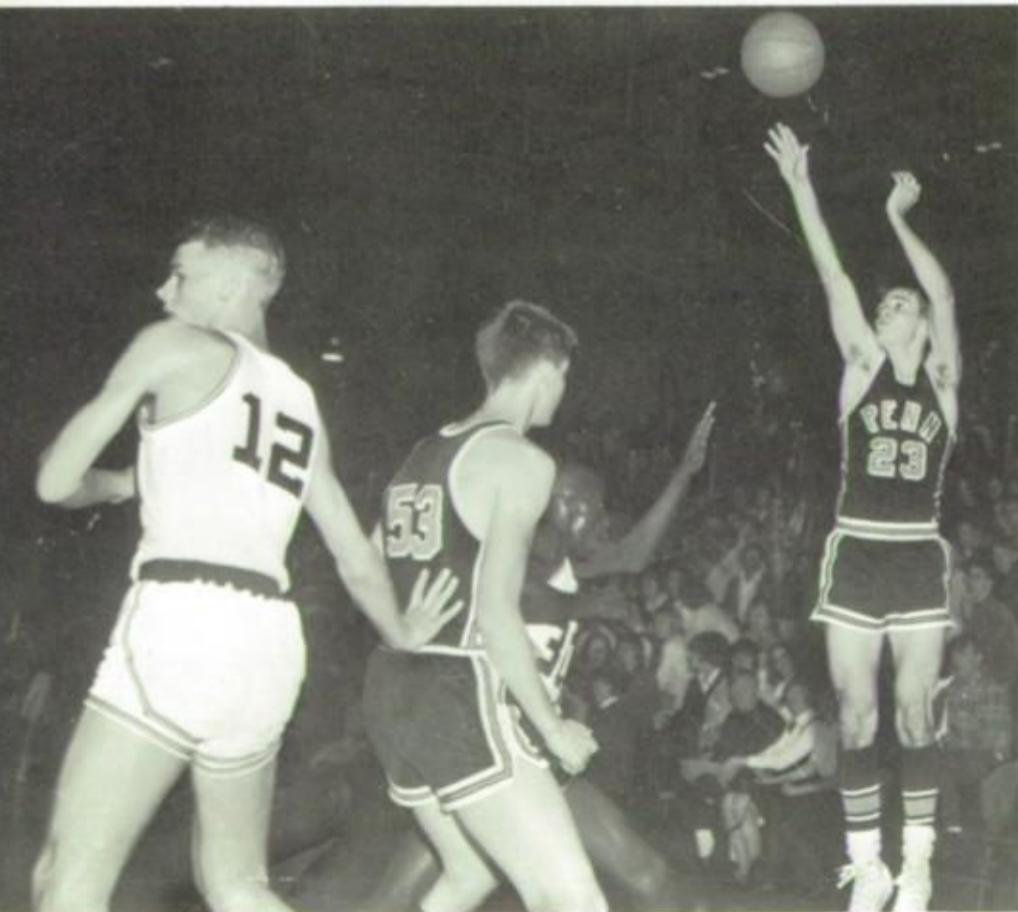

It's another easy basket for the Kingsmen as Penn star cager Don Holmes tallies on a layin following a fast break against rugged Central. Most of our baskets did not come this easy, as we bowed to the talented Bears, the eventual South Bend Sectional champions. Karl Simon (44) tries futilely to block Holmes' shot from behind, as Tim Clark (20) of Penn and Gene Chism (55) and Wade Fuller (53) of Central look on.

ONE, TWO, THREE, PUSH—Penn sophomore center Gary Shanklin gets a little assistance from a Michigan City St. Mary's player as he prepares to follow up Steve Rockenbaugh's jumping one-hander. The Kingman defeated St. Mary's for one of their two campaign victories.

MINNE BASKET—Junior forward Paul Minne flips a short one hander towards the basket against Adams. The Eagles' Phil Williford (11) tries to block the shot as Kent Ross of Adams looks on.

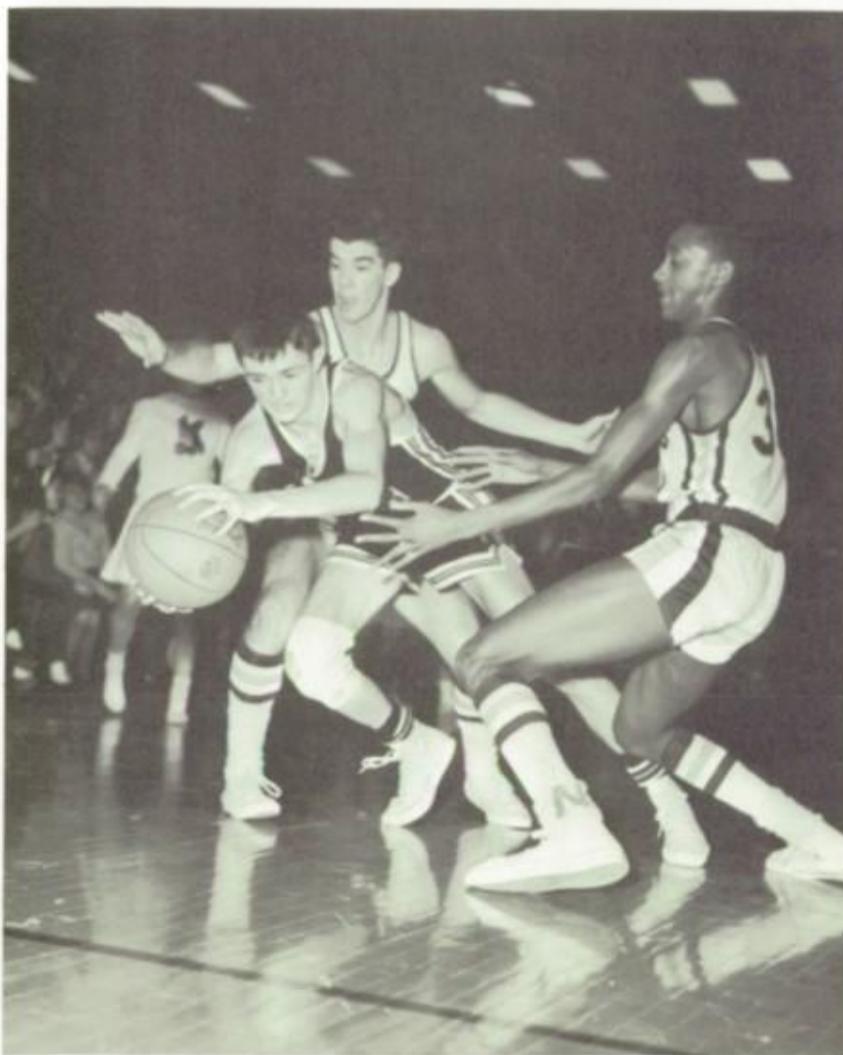

Kingsman center Ron Frantz (dark uniform) flips in a short one hand lay in against Jackson. The triumph over the first year Tigers was one of just two for the Penn cagers during the 1965-1966 campaign.

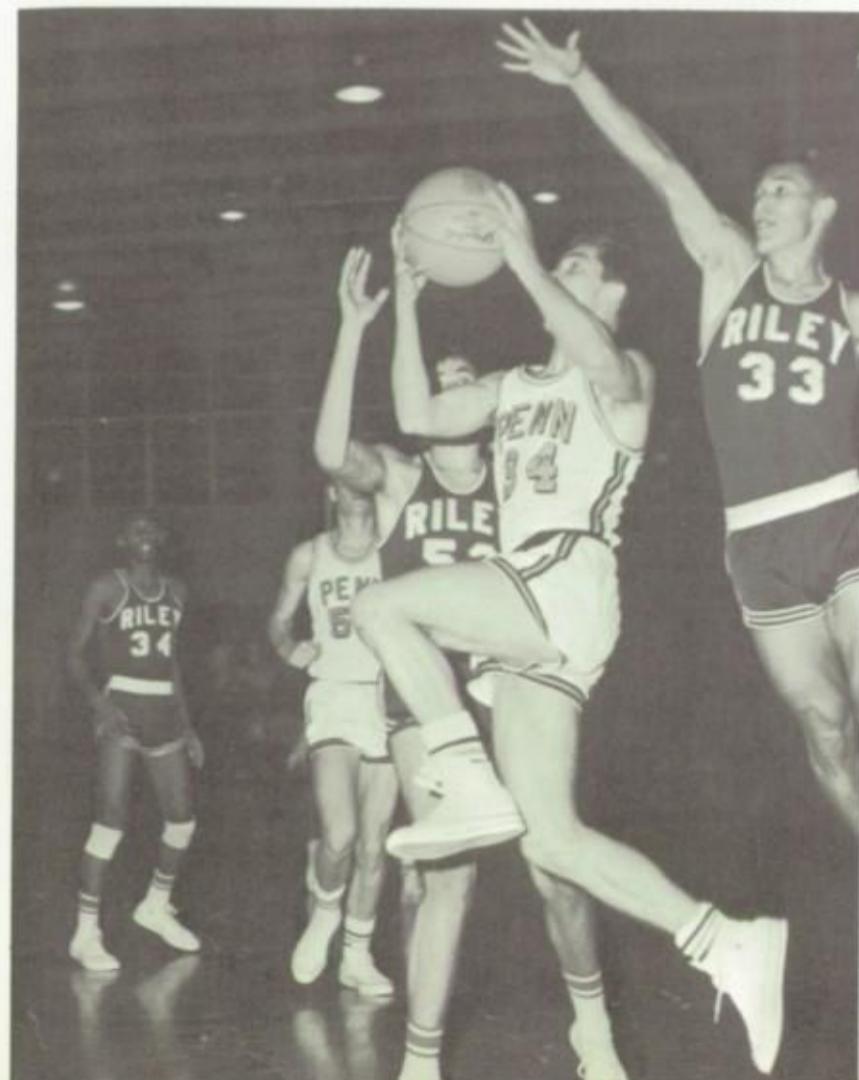

"Pump it in, Dick" is what PHS cager Ron Frantz appears to be saying as he watches teammate Dick Fulmer jump high for a one-hander. Fulmer was one of four seniors playing on a predominately underclass team. Looking on for Elkhart are Terry McCollough (55) Steve Longfellow (23) and Cliff Raeder (who seems to be looking at something of his own).

"Through that line" may be an appropriate cheer for guard Dick Fulmer as he slips through two Niles defenders towards the basket. Niles won the fiercely fought game, 74-70. Senior Guard Don Holmes scored a record 44 points in this contest.

A fairly common sight during the 1965-1966 basketball campaign was playmaker Phil Singleton driving towards the basket from his guard position. Here he leaps in for a basket against a visiting South Bend Riley team. Riley won a squeaker by two points.

Both opening and closing their season on a strong note, the '65 PHS swimming team, playing a tough brand of competition, compiled an impressive 8—5 record. The Kingsmen tankers, under second year coach Tom Swem, won three of their first four meets of the season and ended their campaign by copping their last three meets.

Led by co-captains Bart Powell and Mike Mattasits, the PHS mermen won the team title in our Penn Invitational meet and placed fifth in the South Bend Swimming Sectional. Powell, the team's most valuable player and leading scorer with 84 3/4 points, set a new Invitational record time of 1:04.7 in his specialty, the 100-yard backstroke. Mattasits finished second in scoring points for the past season, garnering 84 1/4 markers, and also nabbed his second letter in the sport. Powell, winner of eight of ten times he has swum the 100-yard backstroke this season, was awarded his third letter, as was senior Jim Rach. Craig Fanning, a junior, picked up his second.

Swimmers who scored 50 or more points during the campaign were, in addition to Powell and Mattasits, Rach, Fanning, diver Paul Holsinger, Bob Andrews, and Leonard Lambert.

Penn Principal, Mr. Robert W. Jones, proudly presents the team trophy, awarded Penn in their own Invitational, to co-captains Mike Mattasits and Bart Powell. Assistant coach George Green stands by to congratulate the team captains.

The Penn High School wrestling team, led by senior stand-outs Phil Miller and Mike Mroczek, compiled a very respectable record of 6—6 during dual competition this past year. Although not as many boys turned out as expected, the young team responded well according to head coach Don Quimby. Of the record number of 11 boys receiving their varsity letters this season, three complied excellent records. Senior captain Miller and Sophomore Jeff Primmer had identical records of 15—4 while three year letterman Mroczek has the impressive record of 15—3—1. Sophomores earning their first varsity letters were Mel Shorb, Bill Avery, Dan Stevenson, and Roy Barrier. Juniors receiving their first varsity letters were Ron Colborn, Rich Hoffman, Dennis Sager, and Jerry Wood.

Highlighting the Penn mat season were wins over arch rivals Mishawaka and South Bend Clay. Penn's surprise victory over the highly rated Clay team was one of the biggest upsets of the entire season. Of the more important events of the 1965-1966 wrestling year, Penn's greatest achievement came in winning the Culver Invitational. Our wrestlers also finished sixth in the very tough South Bend Sectional and second in the Penn Invitational.

Under the able assistance of B-Team coach Harvey Hurst, the reserves compiled the best record ever compiled by a Penn B-Team. Their record for the past mat season was 9—3—2.

Senior Clee Weldy is about to take a second cut on his engine lathe project. Trade machine shop boys find their practical "on the job" training a big assist in finding jobs in local industry.

Vocational Director Clarence Needler helps Miss Kathy Hildreth understand some machine shop technology during an open house session for the faculty. Mr. Behrens is interested too!

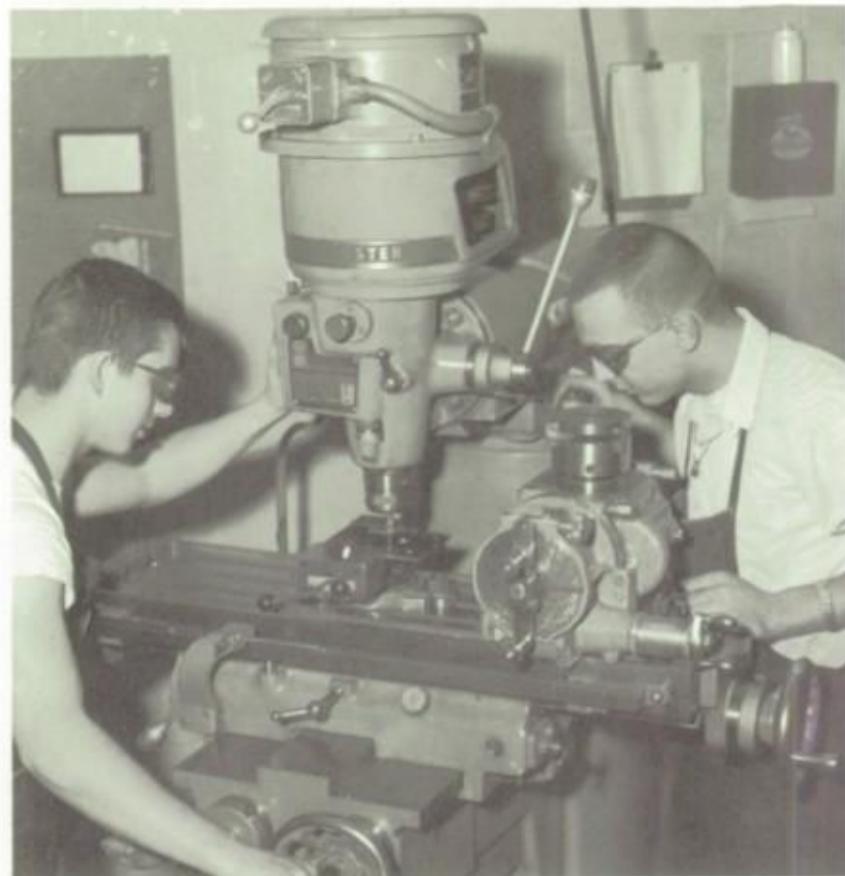

Auto shop instructor Mr. Leland Wolfe aids junior Rich Hoffman in adjusting the carburetor on his car. Auto shop students eagerly worked on their cars in the new and enlarged auto shop facility. Rich is the captain-elect of the Penn wrestlers.

Chuck Hurcomb and Dennis Contat receive instructions from instructor Andrew Parker on the correct use of the new tube testing equipment in the electric shop.

Jerry Andrews and Bud Moore demonstrate a boring operation on the Cincinnati Tool Master.

Athletic Director William Jagg and wood shop instructor A.D. Portolese simulate the action that will take place when this new portable dual-window ticket booth is used for fall and winter activities. Seniors Glen Osmon and Jim Little, co-workers on the project, go along with the gag.

Russian students Dick Koscic, John Tourjee, Mary VanderWendy, Bob Yenna and Candy Carmichael review a few current Russian magazines with Russian instructor Arthur Dedinsky. Russian is in its second year as a language offering at Penn.

Dr. Tomas Gamba's Spanish class has mixed emotions as a few students enjoy a mid-afternoon siesta.

Mrs. Vera Holley gives Doris Shaw and Ruth Ann Searer a demonstration on how to express time in French. French is one of the most popular languages at Penn.

Ivan Lomov (Phil Goddard) and Natalia Stepanovna (Terry Meacham) and the really big scene in "A Marriage Proposal".

With fervent gesticulation, Barb Myers proves her point in James Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look". The object of her discontent is Dave Chastain.

Variety! That was the key word in dramatics at Penn High this year. Productions ranged from philosophic comedy to British satire and from modern humor and Americana to great Russian classics.

The deep-rooted feelings of a society torn between two different philosophies are deftly portrayed by James Thurber in "The Male Animal". The dramatics group chose this play for their fall production and, combining the talents of David Chastain as Tommy Turner, Terry Harner as Ellen Turner, Gary Wolf as Joe Ferguson, Joy Bogan as Pat, Dennis Myers as Wally, Paul Hollsinger as Michael Barnes, Phil Goddard as Ed Keller, and Steve Glass as Dean Damon, they were extremely successful in getting their message across.

The mid-semester play presented annually by the Thespians was performed before the school assembly once again this year. It was entitled "Box and Cox" and was written in the early 1800's by John Maddison Morton. It was an early English situation comedy and was ably presented by Jim Evans as Mr. Box, Dennis Myers as Mr. Cox, and Carole Kleckner as Mrs. Bouncer. An original introduction to the play was given by Phil Goddard.

In keeping with the "variety" theme the four spring plays were varied to the full extent of the word. The first play, "The Dear Departed", by Stanley Houghton, was a satirical mystery. Carole Kleckner as Mrs. Slater, Connie Weiss as Mrs. Jordan, Terry Jordan as Henry Slater, Kevin Witwer as Ben Jordan, Barbara Wachowiak as Victoria Slater, and Douglas Sellon as Abel Merryweather all helped to make it a success.

Student director Chuck Biermann listens and watches carefully during rehearsal for the spring Thespian rendition, "The Dear Departed".

"Variety"—the Spice of the Theatre to Thespians

Jim Evans (Mr. Box) and Dennis Myers (Mr. Cox) the elusive boarders finally meet.

Carole Kleckner lays down the ground rules in the "Box and Cox" comedy.

Patricia Hahn (Lady Simms) and Kate (Barb Myers) engage in a lively tête-à-tête. This scene was in "The Twelve Pound Look".

Juniors Charles Perry and Terry Meacham in authentic Czarist Russian costumes for "A Marriage Proposal", the final play of the season.

Judy Stoeckinger, Chris Romeu, Terry Harner, and Judy Davis were featured in the "Overtones".

A trio of talent . . . Dave Chastain, Terry Harner, and Gary Wolf star in the fall production "The Male Animal".

The second production of the evening was entitled "The Twelve Pound Look" and was written by Sir James M. Barrie. It had a moralistic theme and the leading actors who helped to bring this theme to the audience were David Chastain as Sir Harry Simms, Patricia Hahn as Lady Simms, and Barbara Myers as Kate.

Third on the program was "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg. It depicted the suppressed feelings and thoughts of people in today's world. The actresses who contributed to its success were Judy Davis as Margaret, Terry Harner as Maggie (her primitive self), Judy Stoeckinger as Harriet, and Chris Romeu as Hetty (her primitive self).

Last to be presented was the classic "A Marriage Proposal" by Anton Chekhov. It was a descriptive view of everyday life in Czarist Russia. Starring in the play were Charles Perry as Stepan Stepanovitch Tschubukov, Terry Meacham as Natalia Stepanovna, and Phil Goddard as Ivan Vassiliyitch Lomov.

Debate Coach Mrs. Betty Smith assists sophomore debater Terry Shaller with the selection of research materials for the upcoming radio debate tournament.

Senior debaters Phil Goddard and Virgil Wesco are all business as they spend after-school time in individual briefing sessions. Both Phil and Virgil were varsity debaters for three years.

Phil Goddard and Virgil Wesco won 85% of their debates this year. They won 100% of their debates in the St. Joseph Valley League. Linda Chapman and Terry Shaller won 50% of their debates and were the second best two-man team on the debate squad this year. Other debaters this year were Judy Davis and Dave Cropsey. The Goddard-Wesco team also won the WSBT Radio Debates to put Penn in the finals on television.

Other achievements of members of the team include:

Phil Goddard:

SJVL Discussion Contest, 1st place.

Sons of the American Revolution Douglas C. High National Oratorical Contest, 2nd place in the state.

Terry Shaller:

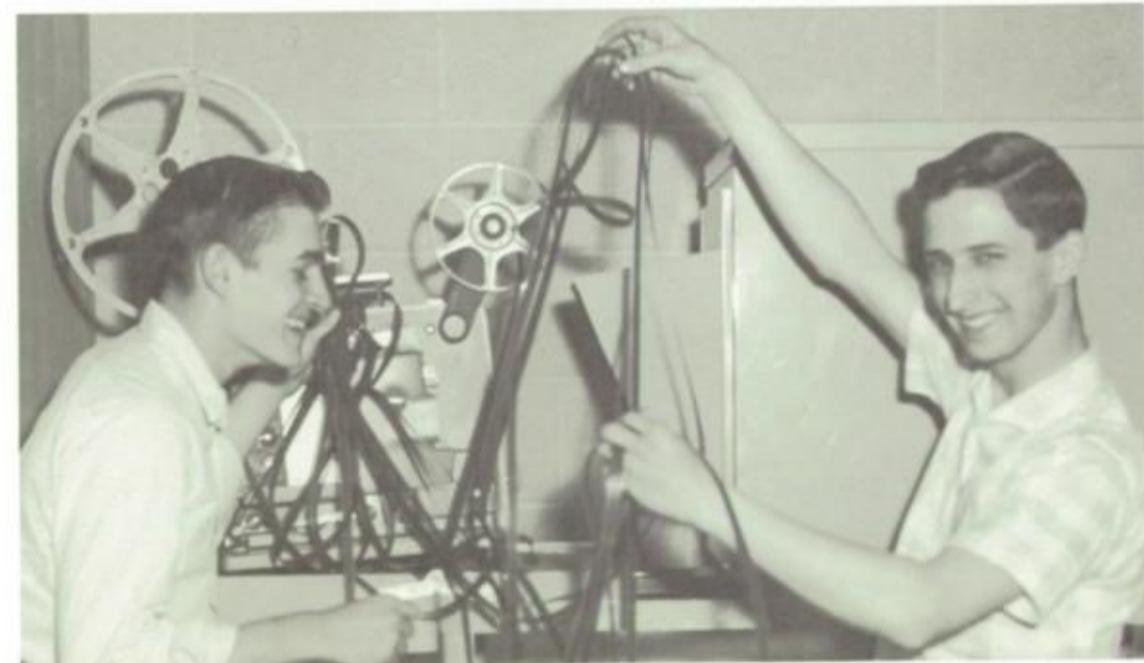

SJVL After-dinner speaking, 3rd place.

SJVL Extemporaneous speaking, 5th place.

Virgil Wesco:

SJVL Discussion Contest, 3rd place.

The four-man team of Linda Chapman, Phil Goddard, Terry Shaller, and Virgil Wesco won the Speech Sweepstakes in the St. Joseph Valley League. They also placed in more contests than any other school in the league.

Sophomore Steve Mechling and senior Jack Hiler were two of the very dependable AV corps. Under the direction of Mr. Larry Nifong student operators served teachers with AV equipment. Here Steve and Jack are upset with a mess of film.

Sophomore cheerleader Dawn Gardner does an individual routine in the annual cheerleading-tryout pep session. For the second year Dawn was selected by the students to serve as a varsity cheerleader.

Penn's foreign exchange student, Gus Soler, concludes his part in the spring AFS Convocation with a few impromptu remarks concerning his year at Penn. Thuley Kasternoch from Greece, Hilda Olrich from South Africa, Anne Notley from New Zealand, and Vincetine Loajo from Ecuador were the foreign exchange students from other area schools who took part in the program along with Gus. Senior student council president Linda May was the moderator.

Mrs. Stana Bohnlein, school nurse, performs one of her many routine duties as she checks the temperature of senior Vicki Moon. Mrs. Bohnlein has been on the Penn staff for the past eight years.

Miss Trudy Slaby of the Penn social studies department goes all out in her bid for nomination for county clerk. She is the first Penn High School teacher to seek public office. Penn students and many faculty members eagerly campaigned.

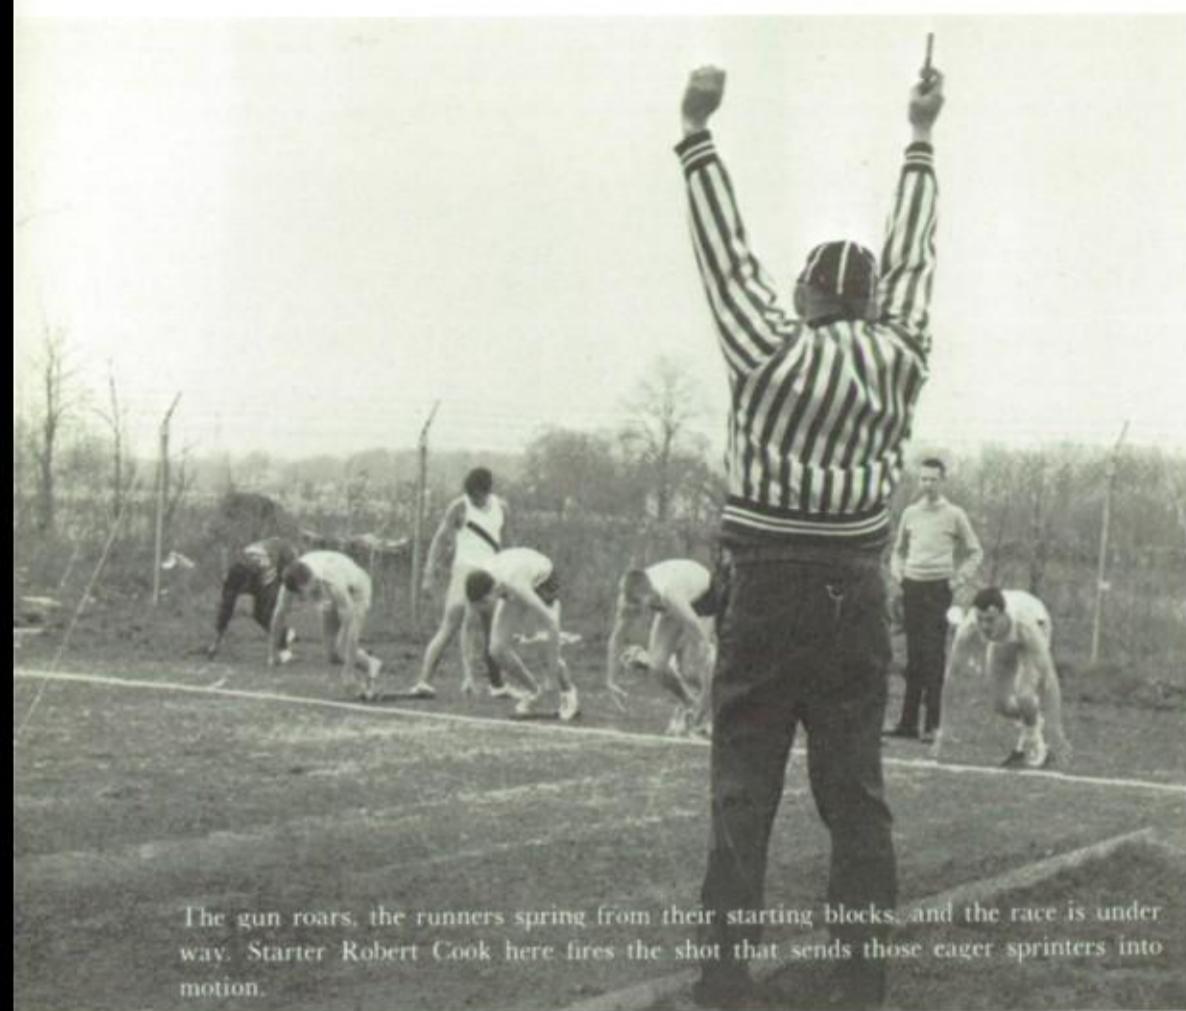

Seniors Gloria Powell, Bonnie Nash, and Linda May display the plaques they received at the GAA awards banquet. These plaques are achieved on a statewide basis by earning 350 points. The points are earned by participating in activities after school such as volleyball, basketball, softball, tennis, and gymnastics and by turning in points in unorganized activities such as hiking, swimming, biking, and others. Gloria set a new record this year in collecting a four-year total of 604 points. Not included in this picture is Karen Huffman who was also awarded a plaque. The sportsmanship trophies were won by Gloria Powell and Bonnie Nash.

The GAA officers for 1966-1967 are Karen Kelley, treasurer; Cheryl Hinton, vice president; Mary VanderWende, secretary; and Linda Koehler, president.

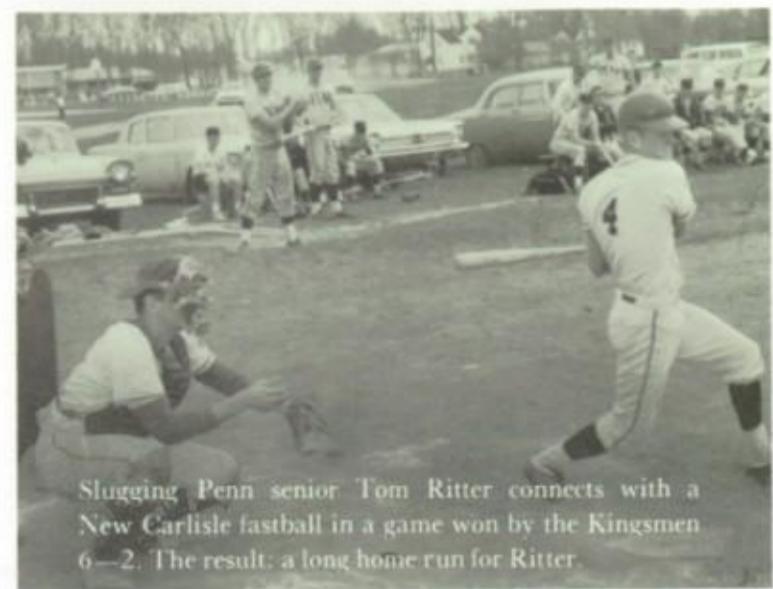

Amid the aroma of sausage and French toast members of the Pre-Engineers' Club again feasted at their annual spring breakfast. Sponsors Victor Haines, Robert Gilbert, Andrew Parker, and George Friedman joined guest speaker Mr. Parker Cox of Bendix and 25 club members at the 6:30 A.M. breakfast.

At the F.F.A. awards banquet club members received trophies in the following categories: Raymond Golata, poultry; Jim Eller, soybeans; Maynard Hahn, star heavy chapter farmer; Tom Fox, swine; Tom Avery, dairy judging; John Oswalt, beef; Mike Moran, corn; David Phillips, star green hand; Jerry Stoeckinger, crop judging; and Larry Penn, tractor driving.

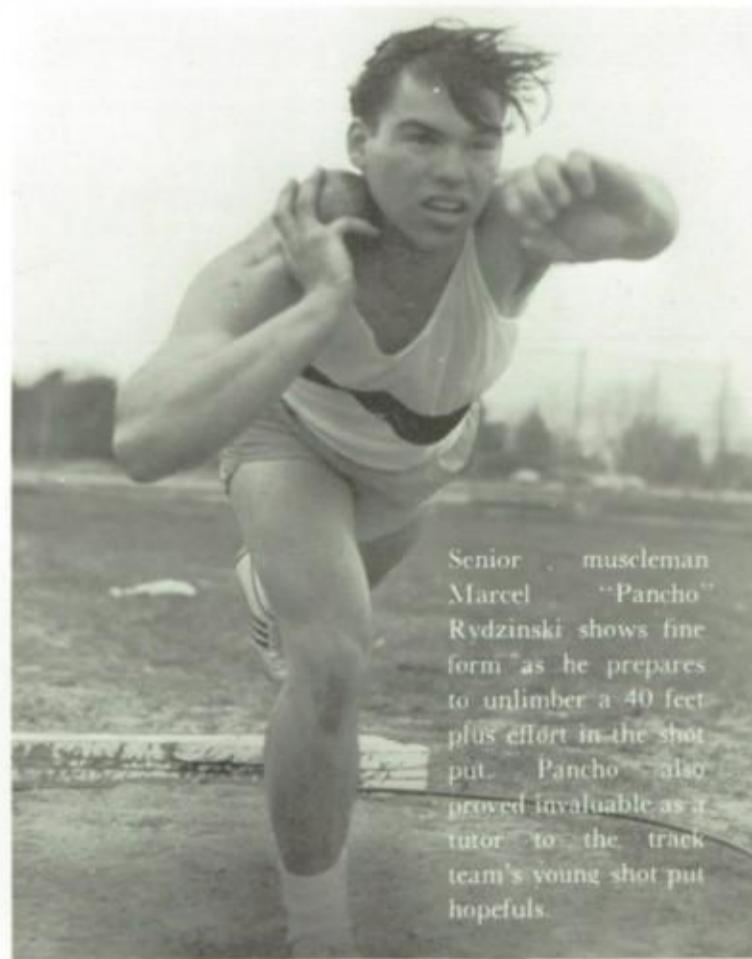

The gun roars, the runners spring from their starting blocks, and the race is under way. Starter Robert Cook here fires the shot that sends those eager sprinters into motion.

Slugging Penn senior Tom Ritter connects with a New Carlisle fastball in a game won by the Kingsmen 6-2. The result: a long home run for Ritter.

Penn's Joe Billman and Rich Hoffman provide some excitement as they exchange the baton just a split second behind opponent Goshen.

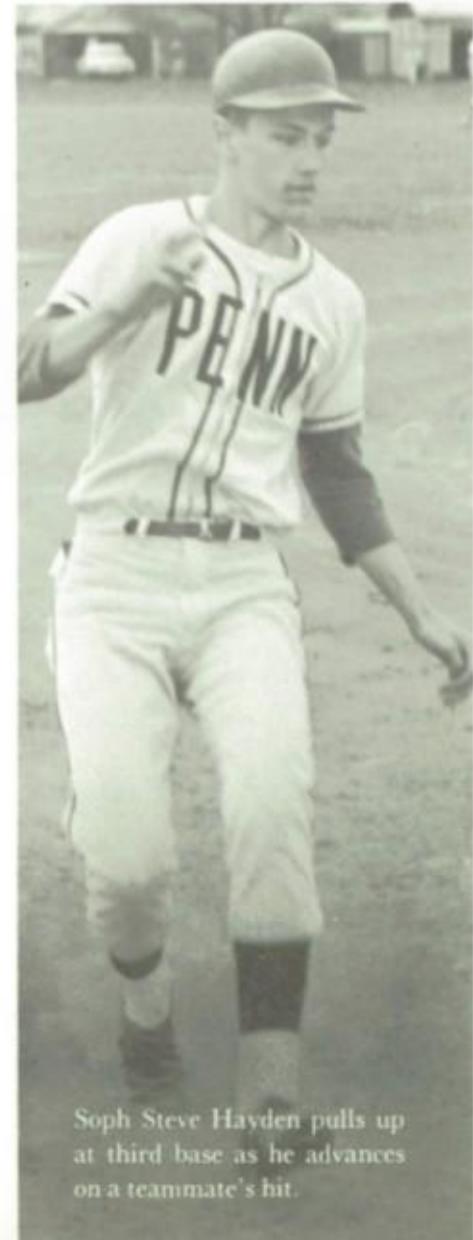

Senior muscleman Marcel "Pancho" Rydzinski shows fine form as he prepares to unlimber a 40 feet plus effort in the shot put. Pancho also proved invaluable as a tutor to the track team's young shot put hopefuls.

No, this isn't a new type of putting stance as practiced by Penn golfers. It's just senior Darrell Gunn relaxing for a moment as he watches a teammate prepare to putt.

Soph Steve Hayden pulls up at third base as he advances on a teammate's hit.

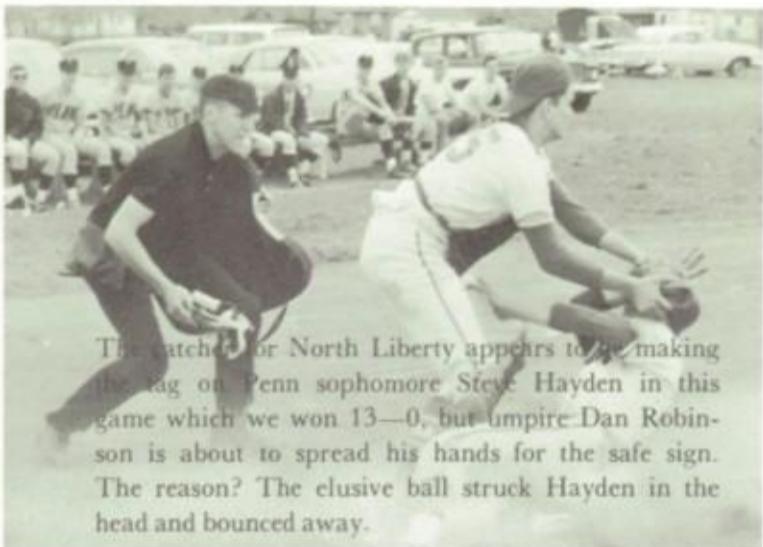

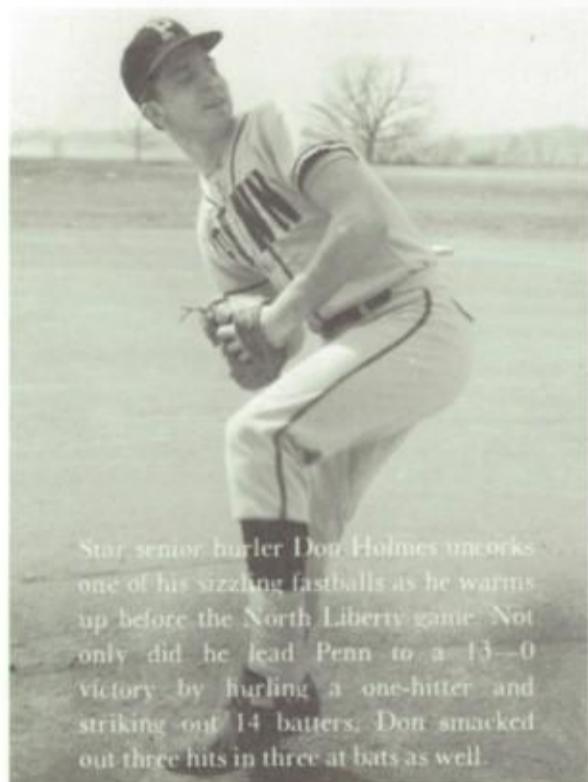

UP AND OVER—ALMOST. With teammate Vic Kline looking on hopefully, high jumper John Prahl collides with the bar in an attempt to clear an elusive height.

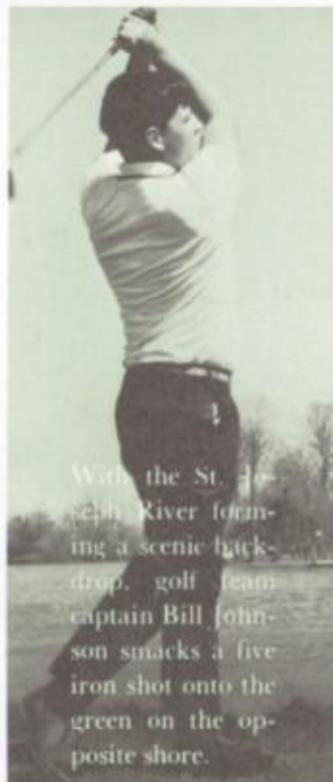

Leading the pack for the Kinsmen are Marvin Stewart, Tom Richman, and Ray Alford.

The catcher for North Liberty appears to be making a tag on Penn sophomore Steve Hayden in this game which we won 13-0, but umpire Dan Robinson is about to spread his hands for the safe sign. The reason? The elusive ball struck Hayden in the head and bounced away.

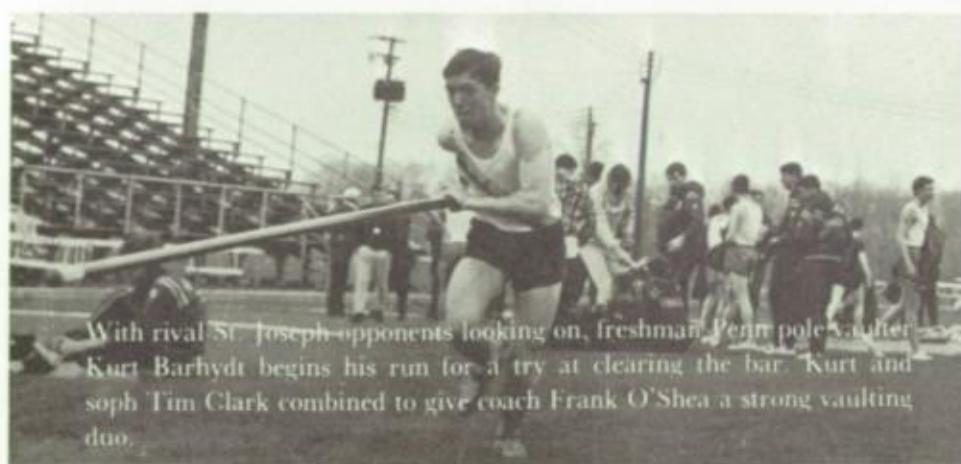

Star senior hurler Don Holmes uncorks one of his sizzling fastballs as he warms up before the North Liberty game. Not only did he lead Penn to a 13-0 victory by hurling a one-hitter and striking out 14 batters, Don smacked out three hits in three at bats as well.

With the St. Joseph River forming a scenic backdrop, golf team captain Bill Johnson smacks a five iron shot onto the green on the opposite shore.

Grimacing as though racked with pain, junior broad jumper Roger Weldy hurtles through the air for an 18 foot jump. Broad jumping was just one of the many events that the versatile Weldy competed in for the 1966 track team.

With rival St. Joseph opponents looking on, freshman Penn pole vaulter Kurt Barhydt begins his run for a try at clearing the bar. Kurt and sophomore Tim Clark combined to give coach Frank O'Shea a strong vaulting duo.

Led by the slugging trio of seniors Don Holmes, Glen Stevenson, and Tom Ritter, the 1966 Penn baseball team shook off a midseason slump and won its last five games of the season to end the year in fine fashion. Hampered by lack of practice and games due to rainy weather, the diamondment compiled a 6—4 record against tough competition.

Highlighting the season was the five game victory streak to close the campaign. Included in the victory skein, which began just after the team had dropped four games in a row, were a 2—1 victory over St. Joseph's on Stevenson's home run, a doubleheader sweep against North Liberty, and a 5—1 clubbing of tough South Bend Adams.

Holmes, one of the best athletes ever to compete at Penn, was much of the story during the 1966 campaign. He posted a .387 batting average to take the hitting crown, and was the mainstay of the pitching staff. Hurting 47 innings of baseball, Holmes nabbed five of the team's half dozen victories, fanned 86 batters while walking just 27 and gave up just 19 safeties.

Stevenson batted .286 to finish third in the batting race, ending up behind Holmes and Ritter, who hit .345. Stevenson was also named honorary captain for the past season. He was the team's centerfielder for the past three seasons. Ritter, the squad's first baseman, ended an outstanding season by being named the most valuable performer on the team.

The B team, under the directorship of first year mentor John Luse, compiled a 5—6 record, scoring wins over LaPorte, Adams, Marion, and two over North Liberty. Greg Minnegar hit .417 to lead the team in batting, and Kerry Slater and Bob Yenna hit .375 and .381 respectively. Yenna and Doug Freeman each won two games as pitchers.

After getting off to a torrid start at the opening of the season, the 1966 Penn track team, hobbled by injuries, lost its last six dual meets in a row. However, Coach Frank O'Shea's squad, dominated by underclassmen, made a good showing for the season. Their final record ended at 3—6.

Injuries played a key part in the misfortunes in the latter half of the season. Star senior sprinter Dick Fulmer pulled a leg muscle and missed much of the season. Steve Rockenbaugh, a promising junior, missed much of the season also. Highly touted pole vaulter Fred Kelver also missed nearly all of the season.

However, the youngsters, including many promising freshmen, came through in strong fashion. Six freshman records were set during the season, one sophomore mark, and two school marks.

Fulmer, despite running very little, earned his fourth letter in the track and field sport and received a special trophy for achieving this difficult feat. Junior Roger Weldy, who was named most valuable for the 1966 season and will captain the 1967 squad, earned his second letter. He also set a new school record in the quarter mile. Junior Steve Rockenbaugh, who earned his third letter in track, set a new school record in the half-mile during the regular season.

Resurgence could be the key word to describe the 1966 Penn golf team. Led by sensational senior Bill Johnson, who fired an all-time Penn best average score of 79, the squad compiled a 7—8 record. This mark is the best ever for a Penn squad.

Johnson, the most valuable player and honorary captain for the past season, truly deserved the honors he received, as he proved to be one of the top golfers in the area, if not in the state. Coach Bill Jagg had four other boys who were regular competitors, and all won major letters.

Freshman Dick Ross, who shows potential of becoming an outstanding golfer in the next three years, had the second best average on the squad with an 85. Senior Darrell Gunn followed at 87 and juniors Mike Waggoner and Ron Frantz carded averages of 89 and 92 respectively.

'LITTLE 500' EXCITEMENT—Seniors John Wachs and Glen Stevenson make the difficult exchange for the final lap. Rich Hoffman and Tony Needham, of the winning team, cheer on their anchor man Terry Franklin. The qualifying time for the winners was 167.9 seconds.

Senior Vicki Mumby, representing the National Honor Society, becomes the first queen BITTERSWEET. Runners-up Suetta Putek, Connie Stevens, and Sue Wordinger join the queen and Mr. Jones in this "formal" informal pose.

'MINIATURE 500' ACTION!—Virginia Schmitt, Ruth Dudeck, and Pam Whitteberry are where the action is as they maneuver the "trike" for a fast finish.

Salutatorian Steve Kelley smiles happily as Mrs. Thelma Barber and valedictorian Becky Laidig merrily tear apart his graduation speech.

Linda Roth, Barbara Moore, Jennifer Jones, Sue Hall, and Melva Duncan "look alive" at the Senior Class Party.

Terry Batson, Bob Taylor, and Charlotte Hanlon receive their long awaited announcements from "Buffalo" Albertson.

INDIANAPOLIS OR BUST!—The Marching Kingsman embark for the "500 Festival Parade" at Indianapolis. The Penn Band, one of 33 to perform, made the trip for the first time. Here Barb Myers gets an assist from Mr. Clyde Burris in stowing the band uniforms for the trip.

Bruce Hess accepts the award in science from the department chairman Clyde Motts at the annual Honors Day Assembly.

Penn Principal Robert W. Jones and Don Holmes share the distinction of being chosen Kingsmen of the Year.

311 graduating seniors listen attentively as Dr. Hicks, of Indiana University, delivers the Commencement address. We will not soon forget this memorable night in June on Freed Field.

Mrs. Thelma Barber, retiring English Department chairman, gives the medal for excellence in English to Pamela Blue.

The Class of '66 awaits the Baccalaureate sermon. The date was June 5; the place was the Penn High School gymnasium.

A Teacher Affects Eternity; He Can Never Tell Where His Influence Stops.

—Henry Brook Adams

Dear Penn High School:

Do you know the word nostalgia? Look it up because this note is full of it. Eight years ago, when I first knew you, the gym wasn't finished, the auditorium wasn't finished and there were no seniors. The halls were full of plaster dust and the floor in the lobby in front of the gym was covered with canvas. All day the sounds of whirring, grinding, buzzing machines accompanied the laughing, whistling and yelling of carpenters. The teachers and students, who were not at all happy about the plaster dust, did not suffer their sinus headaches in silence. They neither laughed nor whistled; they screamed!! Eventually, the dust settled, and the canvas disappeared. The auditorium was beautiful, the gym was filled by excited spectators, and sinus tubes drained. The second year you had everything, even seniors, all 159 of them. This was the year of the first Prom, "Gay Paree." Everyone was beautiful or handsome at the Prom. But that Michigan sun really helped to make commencement a painful affair. For some reason every Penn senior has a red nose when he finally gets his diploma.

The Kingsmen football men gave up being gypsies and played their home games on Freed Field. I wonder if you remember the football concession booth, located under the bleachers? The workers were in constant danger, however, how would you know? I'm sure you didn't drop pebbles and confetti and various other foreign objects into the coffee and on the heads of seniors and sponsors. But if you didn't, where were you?

Have you realized yet, dear Penn, that you ran Cupid a close race in 1961. In fact, I think you won. The 1961 seniors have been marrying each other at an astonishing rate. Oh, the brides and grooms did right by you; they graduated from college and started teaching school first . . . The class of '62 apparently will catch up with '61 in the matrimonial race by July of '66.

In 1963, with the organization of the Penn-Harris School Corporation, an August Board of Trustees and a superintendent, with an office in Mishawaka, no less, you really began to grow. That year you had one hundred and ninety-nine graduating seniors and 375 freshmen. Guess what those 375 freshmen are doing June 7, 1966.

In 1964, your sixth year, with an enrollment of 1350 of the world's best you became the Penn-Harris-Madison School Corporation. You were really lucky. Madison became a part of the school corporation. Maybe you don't realize it, but just such growth as this is responsible for our host of luxury buses.

1965 will probably be remembered forever as the year of the big building boom—the Cafeteria Plaza and the Industrial Complex. How does that sound or should I be more definite? Probably the greatest result of the boom became apparent this year—the year of the short lines and speedy service in the cafeteria.

Heaven forbid that I should use a cliché, but here is one. Dear Penn, you have always covered yourself with glory by winning honors in all areas of endeavor. Congratulations!

Forget the good old days! They were wonderful but this year has been the very best. Why write about this year? You know what a great school you are.

Affectionately yours,

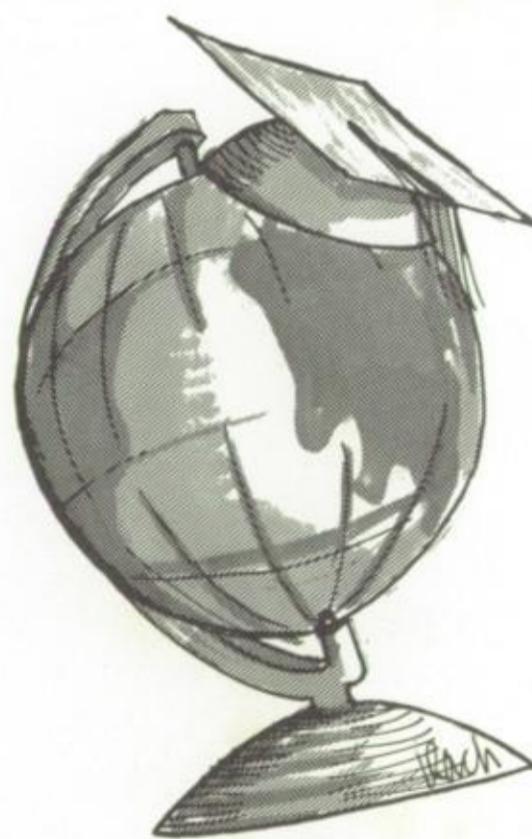

Two Ardent Admirers

Mrs. Barber discusses some important senior business with Mr. Green.

CLASSES

The senior year of high school is a million memories. It is a spot of color in every individual's life. Each senior carries with him different impressions and thoughts of the year just past.

Don Porter, for instance, will never forget his column, "Sport Talk", a regular feature in the PENN POINTS, or the deadlines he worked to meet. The magic of Prom night will always remain with Connie Underwood after her all-night reign. The trip to Washington D.C. and the honor of being State Homemaker of Tomorrow will be remembered by Barb Omundson for the rest of her life. The philosophy and value of numerous plays and rehearsals will continue to enrich the lives of Phil Goddard and David Ghastain long after they have graduated. Virgil Wesco will find his experience as a debater useful throughout his career.

The senior year of high school is a wonderful scrambling of places and events. It is old friends and new friends. It is knowledge and a diploma. It is a million memories. With these memories the class of '66 feeds the dreams of the future! "Dreamers are the architects of greatness. Their brains have wrought all human miracles. In lace of stone their spires stab the Old World's skies and with their golden crosses kiss the sun. The belted wheel, the trail of steel, the churning screw, are shuttles in the loom on which they weave their magic tapestries. A flash out in the night leaps leagues of snarling seas and cries to shore for help, which, but for one man's dream, would never come."

Walls crumble and empires fall. The tidal wave sweeps from the sea and tears a fortress from its rocks. The rotting nations drop off Time's bough, and only things the dreamers make live on."

Seniors Practice Variety—This Is True!

A trumpet quartet consisting of Steve Lehman, Dave Leckrone, Richard Worthington, and Virgil Wesco, is a familiar sight in the band room, especially at contest time.

Hurrying to finish a timed writing assignment, Jim Eller, John Wachs, and Tom Ritter, strive for both speed and accuracy.

Senior class officers Richard Worthington, Rose Vellucci, Dave Cropsey, and Barbara Omundson, consult with senior sponsor, Mrs. Thelma Barber, concerning cap and gown day (1966 of course!).

Right at home with the camera, Ken Leach, Bittersweet art editor, sets the focus for another of his tricky shots.

Waiting in the Wings Anxious Juniors Await

Karen Rinehold and Gale McCreary double check the junior panels for the '66 BITTERSWEET. Karen and Gale were junior class co-editors.

Sue Hoffman and Sue Pavel were just two of the many juniors who spent many hours after school "workin' on the Prom".

Junior Dave Rumpf, Penn's second-floor troubadour entertains classmates Sue Wordinger and Ron Frantz.

Mr. Robert W. Jones poses with girls' staters Terry Meacham, Katie Zeiger, Barbara Weade, and Vicki Simms.

Their Cue!

It's a long, long time from September 'till June and our restless group eagerly shadowed the class of '66 until we were certain that we could wrest the leadership reins from the departing seniors. Like delegates at a convention, members of our class represented us in almost every school-sponsored activity. We laughed with Jim Evans, Carole Kleckner, and Dennis Myers in "Box and Cox". We were entertained by kids from our class in the band and chorus. Some won medals, too! Junior boys thrilled us on the gridiron and basketball floor and Roger Weldy drew our cheers as he ran the last lap of the 440. He's fast.

We admit to being selfish in December when our class rings arrived but no one seemed to mind. April 30, the night of the PROM seemed to remind us of the many unselfish after-school hours we spent working to make it an unforgettable occasion. We hope you seniors liked it too!

We were proud to be present at the National Honor Society Induction. Some of us made it. Just to make sure we wouldn't miss anything we suggested that our class be represented at Boys' and Girls' State and the summer journalism institute.

We are a proud group but there is still much to do and next year we have plans to do it. Remember, all year long we've shadowed the seniors and we're ready to take over.

Boys' Staters Dave Rumpf, Ron Frantz, and Fred Middleton have an informal seminar on the history of student government at Boys' State.

The services offered by our guidance department at Penn are so inter-related that in actual practice it would be impossible to separate them. Therefore, it is absolutely necessary that each member of the staff be able to perform effectively in providing any and all of the essential activities. However, for the purpose of administrative efficiency it is necessary that various guidance staff members be assigned specific functions for which they are primarily responsible.

Penn High School . . . a Place of Academic Encounter

First and foremost, high school is an academic institution with a primary mission to stretch the intellect and shape the mind.

It is a place of questing, for seeking after knowledge, for exercising the individual's thought processes.

In a civilization characterized by change, students must find mental and emotional stability in flexible curriculums. What high school means to a majority of our students may be nebulous but that academic excellence should be the ideal cannot be refuted.

To paraphrase Forrest Kirkpatrick:

*A high school is a singing stride
Toward the portals of maturity,
A way of life, deeprooted as a pine;
A cluster of ideals, courage and hope,
A fear of fulfillment,
A looking forward and looking back.*

WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY

We would be happy to meet with you and your family at your convenience, with no obligation to you, to discuss how a swimming pool would fit in your family's backyard living. Contrary to most beliefs, a properly engineered and constructed average swimming pool built by the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY costs less than 25¢ a day to maintain. This average cost includes your taxes, chemicals, and filtration.

Country Club Living can be yours for as little as $1895.00 for a completely installed swimming pool built by the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY.

If we could be of any service, or if you would want to talk over your family's possibilities of owning a swimming pool, drop a card to the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY, 59880 So. Ironwood Road, South Bend, 46614; or call 291-3440 and we will gladly make an appointment to meet you.

BONUS: 1966 KINGSMAN SPECIAL

Any family presenting this year book when buying a WILLIAMS Swimming Pool will be given $100.00 worth of pool supplies or the pool will be discounted the same;

OR

Any student arranging an appointment for the WILLIAMS POOL COMPANY which leads to the installation of a pool will receive a bonus check for $50.00.

Entrepreneurs Are PHS Boosters

An encyclopedia might define free enterprise as an economic system in which the individual owns and controls the means of production. But a student who wants to go beyond just the theory and explore free enterprise in action will find a prime example within the framework of his own community.

He will find there the businesses which comprise the nucleus of our community, and within these businesses the people who are striving to meet their customers most basic needs, their smallest whims. Our businessmen are constantly aware of new products and ideas and recognize the advantages of altering their services to conform with these changes.

Thus we at Penn are privileged to be able to salute these men, our community merchants, who provide the ever-evolving role of service, leadership, and friendship to our community. So to those who again aided us through their advertisements and encouragements, we offer our sincere thanks for helping to make this annual possible.
